Dear FCC,

My name is Rheyra and I live in west chester, PA.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I don't want to see community innovations, such as mesh networking, get cut off.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would

Not help anyone or anything I dont see befactions from the cut off of our free freedom freedom was free so keep it free

My brother makes enough money off of youtube that he buys things that he needs and help homeless people more. Many people rely on money, and they rely on entertainment that dosnt melt there brains but makes them laugh

Sincerel y,

Rheyra
