Dear FCC,

My name is jj and I live in , , , AS.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because Hey! Our voices shall be heard for all eternity!

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would Posting important stuff on the internet.

Net-neutrality means we can do what we want, when we want! If IST's take the Fat Cats' money, all we will have is Websites that can also be apps! WE NEED IT! Don't ruin it for the entire world!

Sincerely,

jj
