Dear FCC,

My name is Don Anthony and I live in Highland Village, TX.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

My entire home networking strategy revolves around devices running dd-wrt software, to block the ability to use this software would set back home networking 3 decades.

Sincerely,

Don Anthony
