Dear FCC,

My name is Dylan Chittock and I live in Parma , ID.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want the internet to stay free and never have to pay for any network traffic.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

Nobody should be able to control network traffic this should be amended into the Bill of Rights of the United States of America.

Sincerely,

Dylan Chittock
