Dear FCC,

My name is Margaret and I live in Ocean Springs, MS.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because we do not want to have websites taken down by them. This free place is important to us all. Creators or random people.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

These websites are amazing, just the way they are. We don't want to lose the beautiful, rainbow-filled Internet we have today.

Sincerely,

Margaret
