Dear FCC,

My name is Oliver and I live in Manhattan, NY.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would keep me from using my custom wireless configuration.

Don't do it. You'll be hated by everyone for ever. Don't make me cry. You don't want riots, FCC.

Sincerely,

Oliver
