I appreciate the opportunity to watch free over-the-air television made available through low power television stations. I have come to understand that the FCC may make spectrum available to be auctioned, and some LPTV broadcasters may be forced off the air. The FCC must protect our local LPTV stations. There are programs that my family and I enjoy that are unavailable through other sources. Free TV is safe TV. Many Cable programs are not safe for me to watch. I should not be forced to pay for cable, satellite or internet to watch TV. There are now many free TV stations available with a simple antenna. Please do not take any of those free stations away. Low-power TV stations that have operated in good faith and have complied with their license should be protected and kept on the air.

As a dedicated Believer living in Tulsa, I am concerned about the future of the many christian low power television broadcast stations positively influencing our nation and my hometown. Our local LPTV stations must be protected. As a Believer, I am concerned that any loss of LPTV service will mean a reduction in the availability of broadcast content that brings hope and positive values to our daily life. I believe the moral messages are important because there's so little to be had anywhere else; these are very important to our community. Most often, the cable and network television channels miserably fail to represent my values in their content. I want the future of private TV broadcasting to be protected. Please do not permit moral voices to be silenced through the loss of LPTV stations as a result of the planned auction or repack. Low-power TV stations have operated in good faith and have complied with their license and should be protected and kept on the air.

And to top it all off, the FCC forced me to purchase a new television set based on the promise of more free over-the-air channels. I expect more free channels, not less.
