

60001342766.txt

Providers of public electronic communication networks used to provide Internet access services as well as providers of Internet access services must not hinder or slow down services or applications on the Internet. Please listen to your constituents, not the providers.