

60001345952.txt

I think what this young lady shared is important. We hear so often of the other points of view. It has become offensive to express a love of God. She didn't hurt anyone. However she may have encouraged someone. I don't see how this is any different than say Bruce Jenner encouraging the transgenders of this world. She said was she felt. Why should she be silenced?