

60001391976.txt

I think regulations should be developed to improve safety features on the internet. Such improved features might decrease cyberstalking, malware and computer virus and spyware on the internet thus making the internet safer for consumers. I also the FCC should improve and promote disclosures which promote safer environments for buyers and sellers and promote ecommerce.