We have freedom of the press and television is an extension of freedom of the press... I want to keep my right to have freedom of the press to read any newspaper. I cannot make reliable decisions for myself in my life if I don't know what's going on in the world by looking at honest and accurate reporting. There are a lot of shows that I watch that are obviously slanted and their message and they also have the right to do that. I need to be able to see all networks available so that I can make decisions based on being informed and based on being able to see all sides of the issues. I am neither jealous or hateful of large corporations or anyone who makes large amounts of money. I have traveled to 35 countries during my lifetime and know the difference between true democracy, implied democracy, faults democracy, and no democracy.
