

Filing on RM 11760, License Term for Amateur Radio

I believe a lifetime license is appropriate in some circumstances but not across the board. Many people get a license and then find they are really not interested and stop operating within the first term of their license. I don't believe it is a good idea to give them lifetime privileges.

I do believe that a lifetime license should be given to hams who can show activity for >20 years and those who are over 65 years old.
