I watch RFD-TV on DISH. I have been a subscriber and viewer for over a dozen years. I enjoy a variety of programming on DISH, but RFD gives unique rural programming on farming, ranching, animal husbandry and other traditional information such as Trains & Locomotives and other topics.

I think this type of programming should be provided for not based on how many watch (ratings) or there would only be a few channels that would make the cut. The unique nature of the programming on RFD makes it a unique and special offering.
