I am very pleased to read that perhaps RFD-TV may be offered again. It is sad for America that more wholesome tv shows aren't offered. Most of these shows are about us (AMERICA) and should be available to all who wish to watch. I personally live in New England, so I'm not interested in the market report, but am a faithful watcher of anything related to the horse (clinics, rodeos, etc.) sewing seminars, and all forms of music. I believe that these shows should not be a part of an expensive tier where we have to pay more to watch them. It seems as though violence is shown way too much from the media giants, and our youth would be better off if they saw more of Rin Tin Tin, Lassie, Lone Ranger and other classics.
