I watched RFD-TV on Verizon FIOS. My family has enjoyed the great, diverse, wholesome programming that RFD provided for years. There is an over abundance of the same old programming (reality TV) on hundreds of other channels, but we only had access to one channel like RFD-TV. It is a shame that giants like Verizon can dictate what we watch by choosing who to ban from their programming. RFD had not negotiated over rate increases. In fact they voluntarily cut their rates without being asked. This amounts to nothing more than censorship. It is a shame that many of us are more or less locked into our providers. They know it and they don't seem to care what we want.
