

FCC Proceeding #16-41

Joyce and I watch RFD-TV on DISH Network and have for many years. It is the most watched station in our household because of the minimal or non-existent quality of programming on all the other stations.

We urge FCC to protect independent programmers such as RFD-TV.

We also urge FCC to promote or demand these same independent programmers be able to have their programming be offered in economical cable packages and not tied to some expensive tier of programs where customers pay more for many additional networks that they do not view.

We also request RFD-TV HD be offered by DIRECTV as it currently is on DISH Network. Many of our rural and town friends have DIRECTV as well as DISH.

Rural and senior citizen programming is very important for a vast area of this country.
