

60001529871.txt

How can an entity be held accountable for its "truth"? The Constitution in the first amendment addresses the plurality of speech rather than the uniformity of speech and has served this nation well for over 200 years. The tendency for "gobbling up" competitor's speech is anathema to the American thinking. Many nations over thousands of years have attempted to stop "descension" by "unifying" thought which only led to their demise. For Charter to "gobble up" its competition is foolish thinking on their part because uniformity of thought does NOT lead to prosperity; "Absolute power corrupts, ABSOLUTELY"