I watch RFTV from my Dish Satellite. I believe that there should be more programming for Rural Americans. The information provided by RFTV is extremely important for not only Rural Americans but also Urban Americans. There was once a time in this country that Agriculture was important to our society. It alarms me that more Americans do not understand where and how their food comes to them. RFTV impacts our youth rural and urban as to the science of Agriculture. It is important that the people of our Nation have access to programming that can assist them in understanding the most important Industry in our Country. If RFTV can help a small part of our population, young to old, have a better understanding of Agriculture, we all benefit as a Nation.
