

60001536117.txt

I am concerned that your proposal to disallow clear channel stations would eliminate the country's backup system of communication (long distance AM radio) which would plunge our country into complete chaos. Until we are sure the Internet and cell network cannot fail, why should you eliminate 50,000 watt clear channel AM stations? They would be the only possible backup source of information capable of spanning the nation, other than shortwave stations, but very few people have shortwave receivers.