

60001536784.txt

I watch RFD TV on Dish and enjoy the change of pace to rural happenings from metropolitan issues. I grew up in a city (Washington DC) and after moving to NEBRASKA came to appreciate the rural way of life. I find their programming to be less violent and more educational. I understand that there are fewer viewers per square mile but we matter also and the country would miss us if we stopped producing the variety and quantity of products created by rural folks.