| Cincinnati, OH - WCKY-AM | 3/8/16 10:44 AM | Donald K. Finstad | 54701 | The high watt A.M. stations are the only ones I get consistent reception with when traveling overnight. I depend on them for developing news, weather and information. Otherwise I would have to constantly scan for stations while driving; even then I would not be able to find good reception moving down the Interstate. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 12:39 AM | Bruce Holberg | 19106 | |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 7:43 AM | Bartley Richard Higgins | 2113 | We live in Boston, MA but listen to WLW every night. Shame on the US government if they make it no longer possible for Americans living in one part of the county to hear directly from the other parts, via radio! Long-distance AM reception helps hold the country together, for Heaven's sake. And anybody can listen who has a simple, cheap receiver, without having to spend a lot on a smart phone, data plan, computer, WiFi router and hotspot, etc. |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 8:04 AM | joseph s pianka jr | 19540 | |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 9:29 AM | Kenneth Childres | 38320 | This station serves a great service to those in the trucking businesses by keeping the night drivers awake. This is also the reason I listen even thou I'm not a Truck driver. The station is very informative with news about the entire nation. Please do cause us to lose it. |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 10:00 AM | L James Biddle | 19073 | America travels as well as having become dependant upon the regional emergency communications alerts provided by staffed after dark station |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/5/16 9:13 PM | Amelia T. Piersall | 13363 | I came across WLW one night when I couldn't fall asleep. I really enjoy the trucking news and talk, weather reports across the country. I really enjoy listening to this talk and now find myself staying awake just so I can tune in! Now I'm losing sleep because I want to! At times the reception isn't the best and I could listen to an FM station or Satellite Radio but I prefer this. AM radio has a lot to offer listeners so please don't take it away from us!! Thank you. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/7/16 8:37 AM | Troy "Shorty" Morris | 37101 | We truck drivers NEED WLW at night. ATN keeps us going at night. MANY of us drive at night to stay away from congestion on the roads during the day. PLEASE don't cut the power back, ATN is a VITAL service to the working man at night, plus we get informed on new rules and regulations for our industry. Thank you and have a blessed day. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/7/16 12:30 PM | Michael Ramaccia | 14221 | I live in Buffalo NY and when I am up at night, always tune into the Truckers Network at some point. What a great show. Streaming it is a pain in the rear and impossible while driving. I think every large city should be required to have a 50KW signal and all original local high quality programming rather than nationally syndicated shows. |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/7/16 12:55 PM | Lynne irwin | 14580 | We listen to this radio station every night. It usually can be heard in our area |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/7/16 1:51 PM | Jerry Shew | 35903 | There just isn't much variety, in the form of good talk/news, for travelers and long commuters as it is. It helps keep samity while on the road. Why would there be a need to reduce power on existing AM station? It is not like this aging technology is the hot thing in telecommunications, anyway. |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/7/16 5:45 PM | Marian Kriston | 27573 | I enjoy listening to the live broadcasts of WLW although I now have moved to Roxboro, NC. I am unable to receive a clear signal WPFT from Raleigh,NC, at night, until about 6am. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/8/16 12:57 AM | Michael Robert Bennett | 90210 | I live in Waterloo Ontario Canada ..I listen to this station frequently at night ..I find it to be informative and entertaining I could not imagine not hearing it |
| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/8/16 12:58 AM | Cynthia K Marty | 80814 | I listen at night and have learned lots over the years. Do not think this is a good idea to change. The trucker program is a good thing to keep information on roads, weather, etc. available to those who don't have access on phone or other, besides the people are very entertaining. Cynthia Marty |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/8/16 2:42 AM | Joseph O'Neill | 32526 | I am a night time courier and although I'm located and work in NW Florida, Radio Station WLW AM-700 provides me with the most current news and national weather. I can tune in and not be required to constantly look for stations in my 400 mile route. This program is in essence a safety factor as it keeps me awake with their transmission. Do not blunder and remove / downgrade this needed signal. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/8/16 2:45 PM | Bonnie thomson | 32521 | You are making a HUGE mistake if you reduce the power of night time radio transmission on wlv700. I don't live in the U.S., so my zip code is a phoney. Obviously you don't consider Canadian listeners, but I can assure you, there are many. I've listened to this station overnight for more than 10 years and enjoy it thoroughly. No, I'm not a truck driver, but listening to them has given me great respect for the work they do for US - you and me! Other nighttime stations provide nothing but recorded transmissions which aren't worth tuning in to. PLEASE reconsider! |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/8/16 5:46 PM | Joyce L. Cassity | 63501 | I learned to appreciate late night radio as a youth in the late 1950s. I followed my grandmother's habit of taking a small walkman to bed with me. I find better radio late nights than the "period" music stations during the day with their slacking on news. Public Radio is my choice daytime. Late night I can find the best weather information on America's Truikin' Network before leave for a trip. Always good responses to political happenings, not just one reporter's twist on things. Keep the 50 watt stations operating at full power. Don't take another thing from us. We are going backward in so many ways for a large number of the population by changes in TV, Radio, and Phones. FCC needs to listen to the people who value being able to access what is going on in distant areas from their local broadcast area. I listen to the road conditions mornings from the Cincinnati/northern KY area and feel I can see exactly the section of hwy being referred to. That goes for Denver, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Toronto, Dallas, San Antonio, Chicago and my favorite- WLW 700AM Radio. |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/10/16 3:02 AM | Thomas Bain | 18072 | I dont believe the executives at the FCC understand the physics of broadcasting. They might know the rules and the business, but I doubt they understand the importance of long-range coverage of AM radio or how it even works. These clear-channel broadcasters provide a more than just valuable service to this country, especially in areas where cell service and FM radio just doesnt get to. The FCC should leave this issue alone and not be so damned concerned about stuffing as many stations into the spectrum as they possibly can. Its about service, not revenue to the government |

| Cincinnati, OH - WLW-AM | 3/10/16 9:58 PM | Kent McCallister | 29045 | I hope you do not force WLW to reduce their power at night because I really enjoy listening to this station. I do not always have internet access where I stay at night so the radio is my only source. They have relevant, up to date information that I find useful and very interesting. I have no other local station to listen to, at night in my area, that is live and not pre-recorded. I am also afraid they will lose their sponsors, which will cause job loses for the station employees and their sponsor's employees. I know that demand for the quality products advertised on this station has grown substantially over the years, because people like me have found out about them and bought them. I do not hear about these products on any other station. |

| Des Moines, IA - WHO-AM | 3/4/16 9:58 PM | Jim Dinsmore | 60411 | The reality is there are only so many AM channels and radio signals bounce off of the ionosphere at night. If the mission is to save AM radio then the quality of night time reception must be paramount. Instead of further eroding class A coverage area with adding more night time radio stations there should be FEWER night time radio stations. The public interest demands that night time reception be of a decent quality and this cannot happen with too many stations broadcasting at night at the same time. Less is more. IBOC transmission should be banned and if allowed at all banned at night. |

| Des Moines, IA - WHO-AM | 3/10/16 2:59 PM | Michael A Kellogg | 56583 | I depend upon these large reception stations to receive live reports regarding weather and road information. In my rural area, most small radio stations have no one in the studio during the nighttime hours. Rather, they have 'pre-programmed' computers that play the songs, programs, etc. Decreasing the power of these 50,000 watt stations will not allow me to receive these very important public service announcements. Please do NOT decrease the power levels of our clear channel stations within the United States. |

| Los Angeles, CA - KFI-AM | 3/10/16 2:15 PM | Al | 95321 | You don't air any unique programming at night ,just COAST TO COAST AM ,if you really want to earn the CLEAR CHANNEL "special place status" , why don't you run a local talk show "LIVE" from Denver from 12MID to 5 AM everynight ,taking phone calls from listeners from the Rocky Mountain states and beyond . . . just running a syndicated show that can be heard on many stations nationwide does not deserve a CLEAR CHANNEL signal . . . be unique and keep your CLEAR CHANNEL status, deserve it with a strong local call in show from Denver and live news coverage thru out the night. Looking forward to a response al2@earthlink.net |

It is the only clear station that has this programming (AM or FM) that I am able to listen to this show. Increasing interference of lowering signal strength would definitely effect my ability to receive this stations programming. |

| San Antonio, TX - WOAI-AM | 3/4/16 4:23 PM | Colleen Anne Savage | 85617 | Where we live, we rely on AM nighttime radio. We listen to Texas and California, depending on the weather, which affects reception, so I have submitted a signature for the two stations we listen to. AM radio provides a critical service to us as we receive news as well as informative broadcasting. We don't get FM out here in the desert. Please keep nighttime AM radio on the air. It is free and for many of us seniors, we need this as we can't afford satellite radio or we don't use internet radio apps. This is really a public service for rural folks on low/fixed incomes. Thank you. |

| San Antonio, TX - WOAI-AM | 3/5/16 2:50 PM | Steven Benson Cumming | 75214 | When the AM dial is crowded and muddy at night, clear channel stations (in the classic, not corporate, sense) should be easily receivable anywhere their signals travel. |

The loss of this ability would take away a number of valuable programs that I would not have any other access to, INCLUDING via satellite radio and would be GREATLY missed! |

| San Antonio, TX - WOAI-AM | 3/10/16 6:54 PM | Justin Miller | 72701 | Please don't inhibit WOAI nighttime signal. I listened for many years in Arizona to 1200am all night. Now I listen in Northwest Arkansas nightly. Not everyone has internet and a smartphone to stream stations. I am at very edge of signal reach, but comes in clear 90% time, with some eerily ghosting old country station behind rarely. I can look forward to local low power stations here soon piping in Pacifica radio because npr is not left enough. Keep real insightful radio like Michael Berry, Ground Zero, and Coast to Coast on the airwaves. Unless you are giving bandwidth to digital scanners, stingrays, or any one of the only handful of media conglomerates you have signed off on in past 12 years. Thank you. |
| San Antonio, TX - WOAI-AM | 3/11/16 4:02 AM | David Gaddy | 72034 | I am a central Arkansas truck driver. I tune into WOAI at night for the talk radio programs Coast to Coast AM, and First News. It makes the night shift much more bearable since WOAI is the only reachable station in my area where I can listen to Coast to Coast AM and I can also hear the happenings in S.A. news. |

| 2016-03-01 15:07:55 | Ted | Nelson | 27103 | WBT-AM and other 50,000-watt AMs that have been around since the early 1920s have earned a strong signal that should be left intact. The small AMs may obtain low-power FM, HD status or low-power AM on some channels. But the long-established AMs must maintain clear-channel status. I love listening to distant AM at night. |
| 2016-03-07 16:44:23 | William | Nolan | 29607 | FCC is not protecting full power stations due to interference from LPFMs and translators. I listen to WBT on 99.3 and 107.9-HD2 in Greenville, SC with rabbit ears. But WLNK no longer has a strong, clear signal due to interference from WXRU-LPFM on 107.9. They have pointed their antenna towards Greenville rather than Piedmont and Anderson, SC as authorized. Please file a protest with FCC to move WXRU to another channel or point their antenna southwest of Greenville. I can still get WLNK including HD on my home receiver, but car reception is now wiped out, whereas WLNK always had clear signal in Greenville, SC for years. Perhaps also remove your antenna null to the west, as it was better before the change in 2005. Still get 95.1 and 96.1. Also get 99.3 including HD with rabbit ears on Sony HD radio in the house, but not the car because of station in Georgia. Before WXRU problem, WLNK HD signal would lock in the car. As for 11.10-AM, I agree your long distance nighttime signal should be protected and hope this proposal will be overturned. But please protest FCC to block WXRU interference in Greenville, SC, as your long distant 107.9 signal should be protected. FCC coverage maps show extended contour of WLNK reaches Greenville County, so WXRU-LP should not have been allowed past Anderson. |

| 2016-03-07 22:20:10 | Lewis | Tabb | 29907 | I have been listening to WBT radio for over 50 years. During that time, I have traveled extensively on business and pleasure throughout the east coast and have appreciated its reach and programming. With an upcoming move to South Carolina, I am even more interested in WBT's retaining its clear channel status. Their news and general interest programming is not readily available elsewhere and having an experienced wide area broadcaster is important in enabling listeners through the east to continue to receive news and general interest broadcasts. In addition their carrying of UNC and Carolina Panther broadcasts provides an outlet for those of us who no longer live in North Carolina. The old line clear channel stations have provided an invaluable resource to Americans for almost 100 years. Given the growth of Internet and satellite broadcasting in recent years, there are more options available for those in populated areas, but those in more rural areas depend on these stations for their radio coverage. |
| 2016-03-06 23:27:47 | Bill | Mitchell | 35759 | Many times I travel late night long distance and rely on AM stations such as WBT and other clear channel radio stations for entertainment and news. If this is rule is allowed to pass will only add more clutter to an already congested band. If anything, the AM band would do better with fewer stations with high power at night such as WBT, WSM,WLW, etc. and move lower powered AM stations to FM where possible using translators and turning off their AM signal at sunset or just FM only. Also, IBOC on AM should not be allowed at night. The IBOC sideband from KMOX causes noise to WBT's skywave when I am FL or GA... |

| 2/27/2016 9:31:24 AM | Dean Johnson | 14043 | Depew | NY | I listen to your station through the night hours and like the program red eye radio. Just wish we had a station with a program line up like yours in buffalo NY. |

| 2/23/2016 8:54:19 PM | ronald pelka | 16866 | Phillipsburg | PA | I really enjoy hearing KXEL and other clear channel stations at night, and I think the FCC should leave things alone as they are. |
| 2/25/2016 6:25:31 PM | Donald Biechler | 17104 | Harrisburg | PA | Don't tread on clear-channel radio stations' status quo! They are clear, nighttime, 50 kw station/frequency channels for longstanding strategic national reasons and those reasons haven't somehow vanished. Keep your hands off of them and drop the proposal immediately. An approach for keeping AM radio signals interference free can be done by modifying regulations affecting stations of less than 50 kw power which are NOT on clear-channel AM broadcast band frequencies. |
| 2/28/2016 3:46:26 PM | Donald Biechler | 17104 | Harrisburg | PA | I want to soften my first comments entered in my previous signing of this petition by prefacing my words with "Please" " 'Please' Don't tread on clear-channel radio stations... "" 'Please' Keep your hands off of them... "" 'Please' Drop the proposal immediately.. "Thanks again. Donald Biechler |

| 2/26/2016 5:23:10 PM | Robert LaFore | 30101 | Acworth | GA | Adding More stations and more signals at night is NOT the answer to AM Radio's problem. Most stations require MORE protection at night and during critical hours. Rather than reducing protection, the FCC needs to enforce the rules in regard to devices that cause interference. I am thinking of some newer light bulbs, cheap power supplies and even noisy power lines. |
| 2/25/2016 9:13:31 PM | Jerry Kiefer | 32810 | Orlando | FL | I travel quite a bit and enjoy hear KXEL from Ohio to New Mexico. Many of the clear channels keep you company thru the night. |

| 2/27/2016 1:30:48 PM | Les Rayburn | 35114 | Maylene | AL | AM Clear Channel radio is a vital national security resource and should be protected. In the event of a regional disaster or terrorist attack, this is a simple, reliable communications resource that does not depend on cellular networks, Internet, or telephone lines. It is "infrastructure independent". We saw the value of stations like WWL during Katrina and Rita, and NYC clear channels during Superstorm Sandy when cellular and Internet links were overloaded or down. If anything, the AM Clear Channel stations should be authorized to INCREASE their power like they do in the rest of the world to 100KW. |
| 2/18/2016 3:00:31 PM | fran bartleson | 37221 | Nashville | TN | If the good people don't use them you know who will. |
| 3/8/2016 4:04:22 AM | Bobby Parker | 38804 | Tupelo | MS | I listen to several AM stations across the country. Being an over the road truck driver, these stations provide news, weather, and entertainment for many of us. Please, keep it that way by not stopping or reducing the coverage area for this and other AM stations. We need these stations. Thank you. |
| 2/27/2016 6:43:40 AM | Andrew Hey | 39339 | Louisville | MS | Live radio is non-existent at night (and most of the day) in my area. We rely on high power stations at night for news and information. They provide diversity that is not available on local stations. |

| 2/23/2016 9:06:19 PM | Lincoln Lewis Jr. | 40206 | Louisville | KY | clear 50K watt AM radio signals are an important backstop for aircraft navigation, particularly since the Federal government has decommissioned LORAN in the continental USA and the FAA continues to reduce the VORs. In the event of a GPS satellite disruption, low altitude aircraft with ADF receivers can navigate by clear channel radio signals. LRL |
| 3/9/2016 12:50:30 PM | Paul Williams | 43068 | Reynoldsburg | OH | This sounds like just another example of the government trying to equalize everything- to the LEAST common denominator. If lower-powered stations can't compete with higher- powered ones, it's not the place of the government to step in and punish the higher achievers. |
| 3/4/2016 6:32:45 AM | Sandra Coffey | 43235 | Columbus | OH | Many AM Stations in Columbus, OH (day or night) have already been blocked out. Can't get anything interesting to listen to. |
| 3/15/2016 1:17:38 PM | Esther Williams | 44685 | Uniontown | OH | AM radio signals are too weak at night already more stations would wipe out the signal. |

| 2/23/2016 8:38:16 PM | James Shank | 45320 | Eaton | OH | It's important that people are served by stations that can be relied on to be on air in times of emergency or crisis. People know the stations that are responsible and much more reliable than the 5,000 watt stations that broadcast from someone's garage. |
| 2/26/2016 11:45:47 PM | John H. Hopkins | 45414-2016 | Dayton | OH | Jim Bohannon, is simply the best radio talk show host working, in America today! Just simply the best! You have a very good radio station, there in eastern Iowa, and I get them all! I also have SONOS, so if I lose you, I'll switch on over, to computer. My BOSE seems to bring you in, quite well, late at night. I'm very comfortable, with the way things are. I'm not happy, with any change, that may be disruptive, to my radio listening experience. Thank-you, very much, and good luck, in keeping things interference-free! jh. |
| 3/13/2016 3:43:29 PM | Edwin Joe Pyles | 46112 | Brownsville | IN | If this is the only thing the FCC thinks it can do to AM broadcast, they should leave it alone. |
| 3/5/2016 7:08:15 PM | Scott Benko | 46304 | Chesterton | IN | I live in Northwest Indiana and enjoy listening to KXEL-AM after sundown. I find their program schedule to be exactly what I like listening to. I hope the FCC does not interfere with their clear transmission signal. |
| 3/1/2016 2:19:38 PM | Robert H Hyndman Jr | 46526 | Goshen | IN | I'm a truck driver and after dark it is very difficult to find a strong am station. Kxel is one of the few stations in my traveling area that play's the shows that I like listening to. |
| 2/29/2016 9:15:33 AM | Phyllis Poole | 46528 | Goshen | IN | Many who do sleep at night want strong radio signals for listening to the radio. How about truckers who work at night and many others: nurses, doctors, many factory workers etc.etc. We have the right to listen to the radio when we have the time. So do not take this privelege away from us!!!! |
| 3/4/2016 8:24:09 PM | DANIEL CAESAR | 46545 | Mishawaka | IN | I STRONGLY SUPPORT KEEPING AM RADIO SIGNALS INTERFERENCE-FREE AND NOT REDUCING COVERAGE AREA. I DEPEND UPON KXEL RADIO TO LISTEN TO MY FAVORITE RADIO PROGRAMS LIKE MARK LEVINE. |

| 3/13/2016 6:29:25 PM | Jim Janofski | 49849 | Ishpeming | MI | KXEL has been a part of my daily radio listening for nearly all of my life, from early childhood to adulthood.Even though I live many hundreds of miles away in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, aand thus many miles away from Waterloo, Iowa,KXEL is typically the most reliable and consistent am station, as far as reception, especially during the night and into the early morning hours.KXEL's programming is a regular, and very important, part of my day; any band interference,or power or signal conflict with this station, (or weakening of the impact ofany other of the historic clear channel am radio station's signals), would be a great loss to the multitude of loyal listeners. Little would be gained; much would be lost, particularly in the ability of those of us in rural areas to access quality programming on a nationwide basis. |

| 3/9/2016 9:47:43 AM | James H. Hafeman | 49866 | Negaunee | MI | Our local AM talk radio signal disappears, especially at night outside of the cities. I'm an avid fan of talkradio so those after-dark shifts are better enjoyed up here in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan because I can usually get the signal from KXEL - I listened last night on my way back from Minnesota; that's how I learned about the petition. I can't imagine what the justification would be to decrease the KXEL signal strength, unless it blasts-out Mexican, Chinese, or Canadian radio stations, which I can also get after-dark. It'll be a disappointment to lose access to such an informative and entertaining radio station. Jim Hafeman Negaunee, Michigan |
| 3/4/2016 7:53:51 AM | joe francis | 49905 | Atlantic Mine | MI | I listen to kxel every nite and early morning. I live in Michigans upper peninsula , I am only 80 miles from Canada my friends and listen nightly to red eye radio. |
| 3/9/2016 3:51:02 PM | john hanold | 49935 | Iron River | MI | I live in a remote area. AM radio stations are few and far between. I love AM radio, and would like to have more choices. The broadcast power should be increased, not diminished! I have good AM talk radio stations only 30-50 miles away that I can't pick up. It's a shame. |
| 3/1/2016 1:05:29 AM | Mike Hundt | 53045 | Brookfield | WI | Yes , I am in support of this, I like listening to Kxel on the way home from work, it's hard enough to tune them in, in fact I can't pick them up ,at this time , so it's hard enough.. |
| 2/29/2016 1:00:04 AM | Bob Masse | 53083 | Sheboygan | WI | I live in Wisconsin just off of Lake Michigan and enjoy listening to the radio station generally between midnight and 5 AM. The signal comes in clear and I enjoy the programming. |
| 3/11/2016 6:27:54 PM | Mark D. Meyer | 53098 | Watertown | WI | This AM station is a God-Send for overnight listening for this PTDS Viet-Nam vet. |
| 3/2/2016 9:24:52 PM | Keith Hansen | 53126 | Franksville | WI | Please leave regulations as they are. I enjoy listening to radio stations from other states. It helps to keep us together, as one country/family. |

| 2/23/2016 9:47:57 PM | Ed Przybyla | 53146 | New Berlin | WI | I live in New Berlin, WI. I tune in at night to hear some great Conservative programming. As usual the gov wants to screw up the works. Tell the FCC to: Leave us alone! We've been listening to KXEL since 1942. DO NOT MESS WITH IT. DO NOT DO anything to interfere with our interception. If you do you will have to answer to Trump (or Cruz or Rubio) to say nothing of the 50,000,000 listeners that will be pounding on your doors. |
| 2/21/2016 10:38:40 PM | jeff smith | 53217 | Milwaukee | WI | It is a strong arm move to keep this station and others from being heard. It is equalizing mediocrity which is what so called do gooders do. Instead of silencing stations that are not wanted by the bureaucrats, this removes listeners from quality popular listening and scrambles the air wave quality. Just like a police state would do. It is government and stateist overreach. |
| 3/8/2016 2:32:37 PM | Henry Marcotte | 53569 | Montfort | WI | KXEL has been an important source of news and information to our family for many years. It surpasses any of the stations in our area of southwest Wisconsin. |
| 3/4/2016 9:56:13 AM | Larry Paulus | 53719 | Madison | WI | It is great listening to the programming format at night up here in Wisconsin. Any changes that would disrupt the listening of 1540 radio this far North would be very disappointing. Please do not make changes that would affect this station and others to reach out at night to listeners far away. |

| 2/22/2016 10:10:16 PM | Craig Sharp | 53901 | Portage | WI | The rule changes adopted from docket 20642 seriously degraded night time reception of formerly 1-A class stations. Coupled with the declining quality of consumer AM broadcast receivers and rampant interference from Mexico this has made night time reception increasingly difficult. Please don't make it worse. I often can't hear many local stations at night due to insufferable interference (WPDR, WTDY, WTMJ) but KXEL is usually good reception and I enjoy their programming. Please keep KXEL interference free. |

| 2/20/2016 9:04:52 PM | Mark Reinhart | 54115-3675 | De Pere | WI | I listen to KXEL almost every night after dark and have for years. I enjoy their programming and would like it to continue as currently presented without the possibility of their signal being lost or diminished due to interference by newly authorized competitors. 'Clear Channel' AM radio stations exist for a reason and fulfill a legitimate need of listeners. I disagree with the FCC proposal to change the technical specifications of the current interference-free protected areas and feel it should be withdrawn. |

| 3/13/2016 9:19:42 AM | Kevin J. Dillman | 54650 | Onalaska | WI | I frequently listen to AM radio at night and receive a good portion of my news from high-wattage stations like 1540 KXEL. Such stations not only have the budget for a powerful transmitter, but also for quality programming at all hours of the day or night. I live in northern Wisconsin where the AM radio stations are generally of poor quality. I do not need to hear interference or lousy programming from poor-quality AM stations at night; it is much more preferable to hear clear signals from high-quality, high-powered stations, even if they are not local to my area. Please reconsider your proposed changes. Thank you. |

| 2/24/2016 5:57:02 AM | Mary Braddish | 54843 | Hayward | WI | your radio station comes in clear late at night. The only one in my area I am able to listen to without interference. I live in the woods and finding a good radio station is not easy. please do not change!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! |
| 2/23/2016 7:06:11 PM | Ric Trexell | 54923 | Berlin | WI | Many times stations that are 400 to 1000 miles from my home are clearer at night than those that are only 40 miles. I listen to KXEL and a station out of Ohio here in Wisconsin and even though my local Oshkosh station carries the same program, it is at times so full of static that I can't stand to listen to it. Let those that want to start a new station take an open day time channel. There are plenty of them. |
| 3/9/2016 3:33:24 PM | Jim Weigert | 54941 | Green Lake | WI | I don't have cable TV, and rely on radio for much of my information and entertainment. The KXEL signal comes in loud and clear many evenings and mornings, despite the fact that I live in Green Lake, Wisconsin. |
| 3/11/2016 8:42:24 AM | Beatrice Slager | 54941 | Green Lake | WI | I listen at night KXEL has great programming and the only station that comes in clear at night |
| 3/4/2016 7:00:39 AM | Roger Waldo | 55076 | Inver Grove Heights | MN | can't get this programming at night on local stations, listen every night. |

| 3/5/2016 2:04:20 AM | Michael Epple | 55378 | Savage | MN | I have been listening to clear channel am stations for many years. Please don't make it hard to listen to distant stations at night. The local stations don't have any interesting shows at night. |
| 3/7/2016 11:18:51 AM | Lawrence Schutte | 55604 | Marais | MN | I listen to night radio in northern Minnesota and would be very disappointed and lost without it. Please leave things the way they are. |
| 2/26/2016 10:51:10 AM | Karl Koster | 55605 | Grand Portage | MN | I live 1000 feet from Canada in rural Northern Minnesota. I can pick up KXEL, love the Levin and Bohannon show. Please keep the signals interference free. |
| 2/24/2016 9:56:10 PM | Gail Boatman | 55720 | Cloquet | MN | I live in northern Minnesota (Cloquet) and listen to Michael Savage and Redeye Radio at night on KXEL in Iowa. |
| 3/15/2016 9:19:44 AM | Ben Sather | 55720 | Cloquet | MN | I really enjoy KXEL programming. I live near Duluth Minnesota and pick you guys up at night and on my way to work in the morning. We need to protect AM radio for all stations . To me , AM radio has some of the most valuable and truthful broadcasting you can get. Keep up the fight! |

| 2/25/2016 6:14:03 PM | Russ Stammer | 55901 | Rochester | MN | I rely on KXEL radio during both business travel and personal travel in southern Minnesota and northern Iowa. We have had other talk radio stations pushed off of the AM radio wavelengths in Minnesota and we need KXEL to stay on the air as they are now. They were there first - leave them alone. |

| 2/24/2016 6:18:46 AM | Jim Thelen | 56401 | Brainerd | MN | Leave it to government to try and fix something that isn't broken. I love AM radio! |
| 2/26/2016 7:40:27 AM | Keith Tuma | 56449 | Fort Ripley | MN | Listen to Red Eye Radio almost every week day and if i miss it i get the podcast -- keep this coming up our way -- Thanks |
| 2/20/2016 11:15:50 PM | JERICHO JOHNSON | 56470-1115 | Park Rapids | MN | When, the sun goes down I listen to KXEL AM 1540 . I love to follow the sports and talk radio.. it's a real comfort to shut ins - disabled people. I'm rural Minnesota, farming, North woods area.... and can't listen via computer due to high data charges. If w go over the data plan big big fees. KXEL is my only clear night time voice. Sometimes, I listen to KFAB 1110 am ...BUT, the Omaha signals is not always good. I'm not into ART BELL/ coast 2 coast am and Glenn Beck... they are a little out there. UFO's and, all that. I like RED EYE RADIO OVERNIGHT WITH THE BOYS... WHO LOVE TRUCKERS AND ARE VERY LOGICAL MINDED. THINK ABOUT THE DISABLED AND HOME BOUND, AND OVER NIGHT TRUCKERS. PLEASE DON'T MESS WITH THE 50,000 WATT RADIO STATIONS. LEAVE WELL ENOUGH ALONE. GOVERNMENT THINKS THEY'LL FIX A FEW MINOR ISSUES, BUT WILL END UP MAKING IT ALL WORST. BUT, I THINK OBAMA AND GOVERNMENT IS AGAINST TALK RADIO ...BECAUSE, IT'S NOT LIBERAL SOCIALIST DEMOCRATIC TALKING POINTS. SO, THEY WANT TO DETROY TALK RADION AND THE BIG BLOW TORCH STATIONS LIKE 1540 AM. |
| 3/15/2016 9:43:26 PM | robert cecil | 56537 | Fergus Falls | MN | remove iboc etc after sundown--clean it up, am stereo is pointless |
| 3/1/2016 10:27:13 AM | Michael Hanson | 56560 | Moorhead | MN | I drive truck from fargo, nd to st. cloud, mn. I listen to kxel every night. i really enjoy the programs. |

| 2/22/2016 2:18:44 PM | David M. Anderson | 56601 | Bemidji | MN | I listen to KXEL programming every night. There is only one local AM station that I'am able to pick up at night and there programming isn't always what I want. I listen to Mark Levin, Jim Bohannen, and Red Eye Radio. I will also tune in WLS out of Chicago. Clear Channel radio is a great benefit to us in rural areas. I live in Bemidji Minnesota and depend on Clear Channels for entertainment and information not available from our local broadcasters. Keep AM alive. |
| 2/24/2016 6:54:52 PM | Darren Kavanagh | 56756 | Salol | MN | Don't mess up a good thing, please! |
| 2/19/2016 5:11:27 AM | Catherine Harts | 57046 | Mission Hill | SD | I look forward each night to listen to KXEL radio. It is the only station I can get at night that I thoroughly enjoy listening to. Please keep it on the air. It is a great station and needs to be kept on the air at night |
| 3/9/2016 11:14:40 AM | Lealand Schoon | 57579 | White River | SD | We appreciate hearing broadcast's by kxel. |
| 3/10/2016 11:28:27 PM | Bob Henson | 57709 | Rapid City | SD | KXEL radio is a valuable asset to me as I drive at night in western South Dakota. Please keep the station as strong as it is now. It is superior radio to my local stations. |

| 2/26/2016 1:34:45 AM | Todd W. Rikke | 58053 | Lidgerwood | ND | I'm an over the road truck driver. I often drive at night and primarily listen to the 50,000 watt AM radio stations for their signal reliability. |
| 3/12/2016 6:36:43 AM | Salwey | 58368 | Rugby | ND | KXEL is a very important part of my daily radio programs. |
| | | | | | I drive home 60 miles near midnight or later from work each night in rural central North Dakota. AM 1540 KXEL, 600 miles away comes in the clearest of any radio station on my AM dial. Much closer stations power down at sunset and I can no longer hear news on the hour or talk radio. Nothing against country music, but the only local station I receive clearly at night is 80 miles away in Jamestown North Dakota. Little news, pre-recorded weather, no talk, no local updates. Ever drive through a blizzard on a remote dark highway in the blowing snow and try to stay alert listening to Merle Haggard or Willie Nelson? Somewhere out there on a cold winter night in the middle of America I hear a live voice each night. That voice gets me home safely. Don't destroy one of the best in the broadcast industry. John Taylor, Binford, North Dakota. |

| 2/22/2016 10:09:06 AM | James E. Harris | 58701 | Minot | ND | I Listen to KXEL AM radio thanks to night , high power, signal. Great up-to-date imformation. |

| 3/5/2016 4:58:44 AM | Stephen Ricks | 58701 | Minot | ND | I live in North Dakota and enjoy listening to 1540. It is a really great radio station. It would be a shame to not be able to listen to it. |
| 2/26/2016 10:29:26 AM | Kay Adele Buri | 58736 | Drake | ND | I am an every evening after 9 PM and throughout the entire night listener in central North Dakota! I cannot get the signal until that time and even then it is "iffy"....but I struggle fine tuning the dial on the old radio to keep it coming in. Please DO NOT lessen the signal! It is one of the best stations in the United States and being NO TV is in my home, I am a 24 hour radio listener. Especially love the talk radio, Red Eye, Bohannin, and the Classical Old Radio 6 hours on Sat, evening. Please don't weaken our signal....they have already cut our radio reception down to "thin and almost gone" so stop it! Instead restore that which has already been taken! I want to continue being an informed citizen as well as having a pulse of the rest of the country! This is my source of information and don't let me lose it!Kay Adele Buri [Address and phone number redacted] |
| 2/29/2016 9:17:51 PM | Paul Koetz | 58788 | Towner | ND | I have no TV by choice and I love listening to your station when I lie in bed before going to sleep. I generally like Jim Bohannon but not Mark Levine or Red Eye Radio. I would miss Jimbo if there was too much interference from other stations. I can catch him on KSL in Salt Lake if I wake up at 1:00 AM but that is a poor plan plus I might not hear KSL if this change goes through. |
| 3/2/2016 4:15:34 PM | Dan Amunrud | 59270 | Sidney | MT | I listen to Jim Bohanen and Red Eye every night. It is one of the few great stations left as far as I am concerned. |
| 3/1/2016 1:28:07 AM | Clinton Heser | 59323 | Colstrip | MT | I listen to KXEL when I am travelling at night or working night shift. The station is very informative, and it would be a real loss if it was not on the air. |

| | | | | | While I am not able receive KXEL, out here in Montana, we rely on KOA, KSL, KTWO, KOB and KOMA at night to reach rural parts of our region (not just Montana, but Idaho, Wyoming, etc. It is not only enjoyable but is of CRITICAL emergency need to preserve these stations. If the "you know what" hits the fan, all internet connectivity comes to a halt, and we are having a national emergency, these stations will be a lifeline for the country. The same is true in the 50's, 60's, and 70's as is true today. AM radio will become a bigger cesspool of interference than it already is if this clear channel service is not preserved. |

| 2/28/2016 5:53:57 PM | Edgar Reihl | 60062 | Northbrook | IL | "Clear channel" 50 kW radio stations like KXEL are important to listeners in small towns and cities that do not live close enough to receive a local station clearly. Many local stations are drowned out at night by heavy co-channel interference from other stations and by IBOC noise from stations on adjacent channels. Allowing even more interference than already exists will not revitalize AM radio, it will kill it. |

| 3/15/2016 12:03:33 PM | David Clements | 61455 | Macomb | IL | I travel in the eastern Iowa area and support this station programming especially at night. |
| 2/24/2016 11:15:38 PM | Mike Lucas | 61550 | Morton | IL | It is important to me to keep the current technical specifications of protected areas of 50,000 watt stations. I listen to many of these stations, and feel that my ability to continue to listen to these stations will be greatly hindered if the proposed changes are implemented. There will certainly be considerable unintended consequences should the proposed changes be adopted. As an example, we have all heard conversations when too many people try to speak at the same time--the result being that no one is clearly heard! I strongly urge that the changes NOT be adopted, so that I and many others can continue to enjoy freedom of choice in AM band radio listening. Thank you for considering my views. |

| 2/27/2016 6:14:55 PM | Timothy Robert Hall | 91915 | Chula Vista | CA | AM radio has a unique ability to cover large areas at night. Adding more stations degrades reception quality for everyone. |
| 2/27/2016 11:22:52 AM | Thomas Berner | 92358 | Lytle Creek | CA | KXEL is one of the few US medium wave station regularly heard here in Germany. It is always fun to catch your signal. |
| 2/25/2016 8:53:46 PM | Patrick Martin | 97138 | Seaside | OR | We need to go back to the days when stations like KXEL had coast to coast coverage. KXEL still comes in well here in the NW. |
| 2/28/2016 3:22:32 PM | Norman Bloom | L3T4W8 | Thornhill | ON | I can hear your station if I turn the radio in a western direction. You see we have here a radio staion that also uses the frequency 1540kc.they are also powered at 50,000 watts during the daytime. So at night they do reduce their power by how much I don,t know.But I have listened to your staion and for some reason it does come in with many other stationa on at night also. It makes AM DXing a pleasure during the long dark cold nightson the AM Band. |

KXEL is a window for me to life in north-central America.Most enjoyable is for me are the old radio programs; truly they are theater of the mind, especially refreshing when driving at night.The KXEL night signal travels well to south-central Ontario, Canada. |

| 2/28/2016 7:35:28 PM | Jack Bryer | R0k 0E0 | Boissevain | MB | Listen to your late night talk shows |
| 3/13/2016 5:15:23 PM | David Tymoshchuk | R2H 0E5 | Winnipeg | MB | I often listen to distant AM clear channel signals for the sole reason of listening to unique nighttime programming not available on networks, or syndicated on local stations. WSM, WGN, are stations I listen to often. I strongly believe in good spectrum management and listening to the constant interference on graveyard frequencies (local channels 1240, 1400 khz etc.) is unlistenable. If this were to also happen to clear channel frequencies, it would make for less choice on the dial at night. I'd prefer more daytimers since nighttime programming on small local stations tends to be bland automation (programmed via national consultants therefore not unique) or a major syndicated show on multiple spots on the dial anyways. Keeping clear channels clear will give listeners like me whether in the U.S. or elsewhere in North America more options on the AM dial at night. |
| 2/22/2016 8:29:11 AM | Christopher Marckx | R2W 1Z3 | Winnipeg | MB | As a US citizen long-haul truck driver living in Canada, the only way to get quality US news is through KXEL. Any change in signal strength or clarity would mean a substantial decrease in my ability to keep up with issues and politics in my home country. |
