This station is very family oriented and the broadcasts are available for all the families to view. This is a very rural network and can educate the city folks so they can actually understand how and where their food comes from. Some people think it grows on the shelf. Many people are unaware what a grant it, where it comes from and who really pays for it. RFD really helps to educated the public on all levels and they also keep God in the picture. What all station need to do for survival in all ways. For your own benefit and all involved you better give this matter some serious consideration. keeping you in our prayers, that you will make some good choices. As we are self-employed farmers we can relate to RFD and urban and city folks will also benefit if they will be allowed to view RFD. Thank you for taking the time to read my remarks. I RFD viewer and concerned citizen. Mrs. Joe Shirley Gormley. P.S. If FCC gets this done, what will the do next? We must keep our whole country in our prayers. We must have independent proramming wi thout government involvement. So far we are on Dish Network, but not sure how long.
