I watch RFDTV on Direct TV. As a urban, African American I enjoy the informational programs on RFDTV. I like understanding how my food is produced, and the business involved in agriculture. The programming there is not found anywhere, and I find myself returning there again again for the wholesome programming. I recently found that one of my sisters is a devoted follower as well. My husbands family was agricultural for years and he also enjoys the programming. Please let the government support this valuable programming.
