

First Name	Last Name	Address	City	Zip Code	Comment
					American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.
					Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.
Lincoln	Nielson	10100 SW 52nd Ave	Portland	97219	Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
					American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.
					Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.
James	McGuire	911 Tam O' Shanter Dr.	Kansas City	64145	Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2066
Tarragon
Road West Palm Beach

33415

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Boyd

Gilbreath

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2656 El
Pasado
Drive

MODESTO 95354

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vera

Sadkovsky

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa Reynolds 1109 Bledsoe Dr, Etowah 37331

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JOACHIM MCDONALD 2940 36Th Ave. S.E. Naples 34117

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

425
Bandon
Ave., SW

Bandon

97411

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Nedre
MÃllen berg gate
49b

Clifton

7014

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis

Quinn

Audun

MarÃy

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

22230
Great Cove
Rd, Mc
McConnell Connellsbur
sburg PA g

17233

Joe Helman

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1834 NE
96TH ST Seattle

98115

Sara Eldridge

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Millie Mondragon 1516
Sequoia Dr. Hebron 41048

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kersti Markey 3570 S 300 Salt Lake
E #232 City 84115

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gayle Robson 9906 Kingsbridge Drive Fairfax 22031

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane F. private Bradenton 34209

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1724
Richmond
Ave, Apt 1

Columbus 43203

Corielle Riddell

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

25 Foster
Drive

Beverly 1915

Janice Innocenti

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

130 Shadow
Hill Lane Bristol 24201

Terry Frye

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2731
Sunset Ln ESTES PARK 80517

James Beard

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard Patenaude
3007 Woodroe Ct.
Hayward 94541

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexis Carter
Alexis Carter
Friday Harbor 98250

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

147
Chestnut
St.

CAMDEN

4843

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy

Smereck

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

90 East
Lamoka
Avenue

Savona

14879

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alisha

BeGell

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann Nicholson 14421 Purdy St Westminster 92683

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

James/Debra Kelly 18320 Pinewood Ln Tinley Park 60477

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristi Teague 63 Blacksnake Road Seabrook 3874

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Where I live, there is only one cable provider. Therefore, they have the monopoly on the whole industry in my neighborhood. We don't even get a choice of providers and the one provider charges astronomical fees for its service.

Sasha Gillis 131 Jones Cir. Brownsboro 35741

It's theft; pure and simple.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

12
Crestwood
Drive

Freehold

7728

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie

Boyle

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

19185 SW
Darlene
act.

97078

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel

Carper

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter Johnson 149 Prichard St. Fitchburg 1420

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Maymie Noble 4062 Marian Street La Mesa 91941

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly Erickson 1924 Grande Circle Fairfield 94533

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maymie Noble 4062 Marian Street La Mesa 91941

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia Tooley 115 Bangor Lane Milton 19968

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel Stewart 6008 Jaclyn WARRENTO Dr. N 20187

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Glenetzke
213 N 8th Ave
Wausau 54401

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alicia Gouger
3109 NE 26th Street
Lincoln City 97367

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ignacio Olivieri
281 Ramblewood Dr
SAYLORSBURG
RG 18353

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cariln Greenfield
82 Essex St., #1
Jersey City 7302

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

13336 E
Boston
Street

Chandler 85225

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry Silvers

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

518
spencer
lane

Warminster 18974

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

edward thompson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Willis Neville Jr. Neville Jr. 320 South Mount Vernon
6th Avenue 10550

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie Gannon 14 Alan Ct. PLAINVIEW 11803

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

58
DOGWOOD
RD. WEST
ISLIP NY

West Islip

11795

Dennis

Cauchi

Hi Federal regulators and Congresspersons , the American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. You know those clunky boxes that the cable companies make us rent to get service? Well, they're called a "set top box" and cable companies force consumers to pay an average of $231 a year to rent these set top boxes " when there are cheaper and more innovative options to choose from! I've paid $2688 = (32=4 boxes * $7 per box * 12 months * 7 years) to ATT. Please move forward with rules that would end these old fashioned set top box fees and lead to innovation and lower prices for consumers.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory Wynn
1728 Madison Street Evanston 60202

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane Pamenter Ferry Point Lodge Wallingford 6492

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Nate DeLaughter 5073 Clement Ave Maple Heights 44137

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Susanne Groenendaal 1313 Old Boalsburg Rd. STATE COLLEGE 16801

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gregory Wynn 1728 Madison Street Evanston 60202

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

28031
Ridgebluff
Ct. Rancho Rancho
Palos Palos
Verdes, CA Verdes

90275

Douglas May

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

701 So.
Main St. Coupeville

98239

Patricia Marks

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

10612 Sole
Rosso Ct Albuquerque
NW e 87114

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan Morris

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3410
Excalibur Avenue Westlake 44145

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kabir Abiose

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Penny L Howard 309 N. Chapel Hill 27514
Estes Drive

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Owen Y. Winter Winter
Haven, FL Haven 33881

Cable companies shouldn't be allowed to continue making huge profits off of renting set-top boxes. As consumers, we should be allowed to use our own set-top boxes with our cable services without being gouged by cable companies. Please stop the set-top box monopoly and return choice to the consumers.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Becky Lippmann 3926 Somerset Dr NE Albany 97322

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill Richard 291 Medford 2155

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Wayne Sherer 108 W. Valley Brook Rd. Califon 7830

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Anton Krycuk 5904 Otter Ridge Circle SAINT PAUL 55110

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Robinson 410 W Bell St. Sequim 98382

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Romeo Tango Blake Street Indianapolis 46204

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle Neaylon 124 Dublin St 2164

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jerry Tucker 935 Date ave. Merritt Island, Fl. Merritt Island 32953

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin Quimby 16700 31st Ave South Seattle 98188

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve Shacter 8700 4th Ave no s Minneapolis 55428

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

839 veto n Grand
w Rapids

49504

terry

taylor

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

839 veto n Grand
w Rapids

49504

terry

taylor

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

757 S.
Remington
Rd

Columbus 43209

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ben Davis

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1778
Southwood
Dr.

Vacaville 95687

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samantha Knight

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

805 N 4th
Ave Apt

206

Phoenix

85003

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William

Resseguie

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

316 Cheese Honeoye
Factory Td Falls

14472

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leland

Brun

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen Murphy 12535
Calle
Tamega San Diego 92128
#116

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nikki Jimenez 6990 47th
Ave E Tacoma 98443

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

300 Rolling
oaks dr apt Westlake
268 Village

91361

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

94-781
Meahale
Street

Waipahu

96797

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gricelda

Aktinol

Lolita

Mikami

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine Hale 1525 Grayson Highway #516 Grayson 30017

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Howard Watkins 1785 W. Dovewood Lane FRESNO 93711

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2235 E
Camino El Ganado

TUCSON

85718

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul

Brunelle

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

122 N
Stinson St

Nampa

83651

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fran

Gutierrez

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen Medina 70-19 Manse St Forest Hills 11375

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian Ault P.O. Box 171 New Gloucester 4260

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian Ault P.O. Box 171 New Gloucester 4260

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15797
Snee-Oosh
Rd. La

Ursula Mass Conner,WA La Conner 98257

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

9800 S.
Gribble Rd.
Canby, Or. Canby

97013

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John

Guilmette

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1266 B
Wanda St. SEASIDE

93955

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie

Kane

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond Katz 79 Frances Ave LARKSPUR 94939

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ren Star 41 elm s Minneapolis 55404

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

g d N/A Beverly Hills 90210

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Chris Russell 501 Hidalgo Dr. Bakersfield 93314

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernardo Mujica
133 durand ave
Sioux City 51111

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Joseph Collins
2417 Welsh Rd # 21-512
Philadelphi a 19114

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1158
Welsh
Road, Apt.
#F2-5

Lansdale 19446

Daniel Kirk

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

3 Fort Collins 80526

The Wojos

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Potocnik P.O. Box 13864 Colorado Springs 80902

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph Sullivan 7527 Titian Pkwy Sacramento 95823

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

William Rothman
14 Cliff Road, Belvedere Tiburon 94920

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Dawn Olney
8936 Cedar Overland Lane Park 66207

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis Janes 4331 Knollbluff San Antonio 78247

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annette J. Henderson 465 Green Camano Island Way Island 98282

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn Lang 1721 Polaris Court Saint Cloud 56303

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn Cardiff no Salem 97301

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily Rose 730 Pine BOULDER 80302
Gold Hill

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher Hart 270 10th Bethlehem 18018
Avenue

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Norman 31 Pal St. Plainview 11803

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol Evans 73 grove Maywood 7607
avenue

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emmylou Gutierrez 1301 Scott ave Clovis 93612

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna Ferguson 7507 Doane Drive Madison 35758

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara MacDonald 251 East Park Ave Wheaton 60189

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Pamala Garoutte 11920 s w imperial ave #11 Portland 97224

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D Rader private PALM BAY 32905

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Michelle Morris 1290 Monterrey Blvd Eules 76040

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy Popoff 1150 W Capitol Dr San Pedro 90732

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

morgan michel 7557 40th ave ne Seattle 98115

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Ginger Merritt 140 Clover Ridge Rd NE Albany 97322

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Susan Dunn 507 Neal Street GRASS VALLEY 95945

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3022
Canterbury
Blvd

Fort Wayne 46835

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick Burley

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

13210
Woodsdale
Court

Houston 77038

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim Tucker

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim

Rose

2151 ne 42 Pompano
ct 123 Beach 33064

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William

Eaton

821 Phillips
St Kalamazoo 49001

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

k danowski 15 bower hill road Pittsburgh 15228

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Thomas Mohr 5553 Vantage Point Rd. Columbia 21044

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice Cash 4663 Covington Hwy Decatur 30035

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa Reynolds 1109 Bledsoe Dr. Etowah 37331

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Ramina Coleman 6615 Terrace Glen Dr Arlington 76002

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gerri Harrington 4166 Laredo Ln., Unit A Simi Valley 93063

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

13210
Woodsdale
Court

Houston

77038

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim

Tucker

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

5736
Camber
Drive

SAN DIEGO

92117

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenyth

Turner

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

5220
Brittany Dr. Saint
S. Petersburg 33715

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank Fojtik

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1235 Long
Rd Homer 13077

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie Siler

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kellie Crawford 1711 E 14th Ave Spokane 99202

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Blick 304 Robert Street Hutchinson 67502

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M G

Binkley

Sandharbo
r Ct

Maineville

45039

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg

Sanchez III

6906
N.Wolcott
ave apt 1

Chicago

60626

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose Meyer 1111 Ontario OAK PARK 60302

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph Lite 1773 KING AVENUE DAYTON 45420

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judie O'Gara 1706 Dodd Road Saint Paul 55118

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Malinda Plog 1740 Ave V, Scottsbluff, NE Scottsbluff 69361

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda Ng 3332 155th street Flushing 11354

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris Dent 9810 Aura Avenue Northridge 91324

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa Britton
13523 34th Ave SE Bothell 98012

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa Britton
13523 34th Ave SE Bothell 98012

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lillie Gatewood 4 cedar street Greenvale 11548

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Ade 1033 SW Billard Ave Topeka 66604

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard Caddell
231 Richmond St
Painesville 44077

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Woldt
2191 Gentian Venice
34293

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Woldt

2191
Gentian Venice 34293

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Luke Anavi

2431 N.E.
Flanders St. Portland 97232

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert March
1000 S.
LeMay Ave.
Ft. Collins
CO Fort Collins 80524

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

alicia bluhm
1557 s
freedom
ave alliance 44601

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

g g 4 wy Orting 98360

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Garth Shineman 3814 N 15th Ave #5 Phoenix 85015

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn wolin 1640 Burke
RD #7 LAS CRUCES 88007

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Greg Grieman Iroquois SOUTH
LAKE TAHOE 96150

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Magda B Park Slope Brooklyn 11216

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Deborah Hoffmann 501 Lamarck Dr. Buffalo 14225

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Nicole Kirkpatrick 628 One Half Olive Street Shreveport 71104

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

J Stufflebeam 19178 S. Echo Dell Lane OREGON CITY 97045

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cynthia Vartenuk 702 East Mariposa Drive Scottsdale 85251

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

David Sweitzer 379 Stone Church Rd. Grindstone 15442

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barb Craig Erie RD Derby 14047

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Chance Barnett 1230
Wicklow Canyon
Way Lake 78133

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

719
Broadmoor
Dr DAYTON 45419

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly Smith

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2440
saranac
ave PITTSBURG
H 15216

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan Anderson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Stoker 14760 SW 122 Place Miami 33186

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Stoker 14760 SW 122 Place Miami 33186

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2541
Painted
Sunset Dr Ellicott City 21042

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maribeth Vogel

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

430 Adams Klamath
St KF OR Falls 97601

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott Kronenberg

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean

Solowiej

1104 10TH
ST SW Albuquerque

e

87102

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leena

Hasan

177 lindenwood
d dr e

r3p1s7

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry Poulson 22120 switzer defiance 43512

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry Poulson 22120 switzer defiance 43512

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

655 s
pennsylvan ia st Denver 80209

michele page

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1725 NW
Hobbs Rd Cornelius 97113

Brandon Giesel

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P Roman 503 Olympic SANTA MONICA 90401

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Tom Hadid 18782 Withey Road LOS GATOS 95030

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walt Marchel POB 1451 Newport 97365

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2438 S.
Philip St.,
Philadelphi Philadelphia
a, PA a

Alec Mento 19148

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2604
Kentucky St. BELLINGHA
M 98229

John Bremer

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

573 Atkins
St Middletown 6457

Robert Chang

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B Hurliman Houston Houston 77018

In my situation living in Fairbanks, Alaska I have no choices for cable service. In my town, one's residence appears to dictate which provider will be available. My location limited us to Dish. Dish's initial contract was offered at the low? price of $59 a month but rapidly climbed higher after the first year. The 25-30 shows we prefer to watch are only available if by choosing their mid priced package.

Some of the highly preferred networks such as HBO and STARS are each an extra $15 monthly. Recently DISH removed one of our regularly watched channels. Our television viewing is fairly limited to older free movies, news networks, motorcycle and nascar races, the History channel, and HBO.

We now are paying over $124. monthly and feel there's no obvious options to reduce the bill. This brings our yearly payments to over $1488.00 per year to rent a set top box, and a second in our bedroom from the cable monopolies. This amount of money is absurd. Especially when we aren't purchasing ren

Jeannie English 880 Seldom Seen Rd Fairbanks 99712

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R Luipold 5760 Ocala Ct. Cincinnati 45239

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leona Terry 2627 Krafft Rd Port Huron 48060

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard Mueller 336 Davey St Buffalo 14206

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Irwin SCHNEIDER 7005 STANWOOD D DR Columbia 65203

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

165
Targhee
Town Rd

Alta

83414

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1 Mountain
Ore Ct,
Thurmont, MD

Thurmont

21788

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan

Cicero

Andrew

May

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Szewczyk Omaha 68110

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

41
Kingsford
Ct. Napa,
Ca

Kara Poon Napa 94558

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Morgan 631 Hull St. Henderson 89015

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve Lovelace PO Box 245 Wilkeson 98396

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve Barone 15 bay state road Boston 2215

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arlo Ryan-Keohane Street address Lake Oswego 97035

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melinda Threet 111 Johnson Terrace Ct. City 37601

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Sandra Smith 41778n FONTHILL Clinton Township 48038

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lelia Amalfitano 441 Shawmut BOSTON 2118

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Donald Ediger 2930 Day Avenue, Miami, FL Miami 33133

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allyson Drucker 768 McDow Dr. Rock Hill 29732

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene Ulmer 1408 E Salt Lake 5935 S City 84121

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerrylea Ferriter 16354 TINLEY
Paxton PARK 60477

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerrylea Ferriter 16354 TINLEY
Paxton PARK 60477

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise Jackson 7703 s peoria Chicago 60620

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia Dillingham 123 amuwjere Bartlett 60103

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roxanne Asel blabla Roanoke 24036

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1091
Cherry St.
Winnetka

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth Downie IL Winnetka 60093

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1420
University Drive N

Fargo

58102

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric

Myers

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

18527
Iroquois
Drive

Spring Lake

49456

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel

Morr

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice Phillips 103 Hunters Ridge Pickens 29671

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Ford 4 Forestdale Rd. Worcester 1605

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hava Mendelberg 86 snowden lane Princeton 8540

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Art Weaver 9615 Weybridge Dr. Houston 77031

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3670 W
Bellewood
Pl

TUCSON

85741

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James

Fuller

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7542 Park
Ave

Merchantvil le

8109

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe

Romero

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane Moan 12517 26th Ave NE Seattle 98125

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa Palance 48 Jeffreys Neck Rd Ipswich 1938

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3909
Edenhurst
Ave LA CA Los Angeles 90039

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deron Grams

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

103 Liberty
House
Lane
Phoenixvill PHOENIXVIL
e, PA LE 19460

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam Miller

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

570A
Heritage
Vlg

Southbury

6488

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet

Nevins

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8039 W
80th St

Overland
Park

66204

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet

Noonen

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom Cannon 1662 Lake Dr. Haslett 48840

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene Sanderson 63 Fells Rd Verona 7044

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil Kambeitz 106 Seminole ave Bismarck 58501

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josephine Krebsbach 47 Gordon st Yonkers 10701

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Levy 109 North Rd Chelmsford 1824

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amber Edwards PO Box 769 Quincy 95971

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kyle Chapman 2509 Oak Crest Dr. Santa Barbara 93105

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S. Davis R D Bristol 06010-8518

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily Jane Phifer
1732 U St NW
Washington 20009

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Dianne Ensign
11600 SW Lancaster Rd
PORTLAND 97219

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily Jane Phifer

1732 U St
NW Washington 20009

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

L Smith

Catawba
St. Mt. Mount
Holly NC Holly 28120

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria Cox 1161 Oakdale Dr Pottstown 19464

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paul Wisniewski 85 Frederick Street Buffalo 14227

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Betty Newman 800 S 9th Street Apt 10 Monmouth 61462

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Denise Belsey 27844 Sumner Ave Santa Clarita 91350

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin Newquist 88 Grace Terrace PASADENA 91105

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Don Fisher 2619 SW Greenwich Way Palm City 34990

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K C Stockton Dr Middletown 2842

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lisa LeBlanc 4620 W. Wm. Cannon Dr. No. 5 Austin 78749

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian Kendall 6273 Potrero Dr Newark 94560

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M Whitehead 3127 s. Estes st. Denver 80227

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KATHERINE POTAMITES 5739 n FRANCISCO Chicago 60659

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rc dutra 4500 cabello st UNION CITY 94587

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2011
Chamberlin
Street

Orlando

32806

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcy

Weston

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

127
Springtime
Lane West

LEVITTOWN

11756

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria

Studer

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

330 Rolling
Meadows
Dr

Ann Arbor

48103

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristen

Wargelin

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

393 North GRAND
Dale Court JUNCTION

81507

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom

Scalia

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KATIE MAGALLON 4652
 CUSTER Brookfield 60513
 AVE.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn Hunter 815 Front Georgetow
 Street #3G n 29440

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Merlyn Alexander 80 N. Hamton Lane Jackson 38305

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich Butler 219 Pine Street Glenolden 19036

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry Goebel 15790 s.e. lou-ann ct milwaukie or Portland 97267

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack Coulson 360 Erie Ave. 29748

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1445 N.
Longfellow
St. ARLINGTON 22205

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

chet

hepburn

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Pleasant
3 NIED DR Valley 12569

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick

Dunstan

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

16
Congress
Street
WORCESTE
R

Susan Lozoraitis 1609

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

826
Autumn
Crest Dr
Wenatchee 98801

Victoria Olson

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Keeney 4691 Lake Ave Apt 6 Rochester 14612

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melisa Castro 72-10 37th Ave Jackson Heights 11372

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony Boyette
161 Claiborne St
Biloxi 39530

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria O'Rourke
East
PO Box 789 Quogue 11942

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I want to be able to buy the box, not be forced to rent it (and return it to the company in person every time I move across state lines).

Also: please force the cable companies to unbundle their channels and let us buy only the channels we watch. End Comcast's monopoly on television viewing in the mid-Atlantic states!

111
Stoneham
Dr

Denise

Brush

Glassboro

8028

Sincerely,
Denise Brush

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1937
American Way

Lucy

Nichols

Ventura

93004

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles Prisco 81 Highland Street Canton 2021

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason Harpham 3925 N 11th Street LINCOLN 68521

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

bill arkenberg 211 heath Santa Cruz 95060

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

127
Brentwood
Trail Elgin,
Il

Gary Huffman Elgin 60120

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandy Harris 809 N Market St Cortez 81321

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald Jackson 846 Ridge Trail Rd. Kingston 37763

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tania Anderson North Camino esplendor Tucson 85718

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dragos Savu Bucuresti 70000

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald Munn
4313
125TH PL
SE Everett 98208

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra Dillon
2016 Elm
St. Stratford 6615

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven Doxas 1442 W 74th PL Merrillville 46410

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenna Bergeron 687 Plymouth Street Whitman 2382

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Holmgren 427 A 40th Ave. S. Saint Petersburg 33705

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

KATIE MAGALLON 4652 CUSTER AVE. Brookfield 60513

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

C. A. Bowman 60 Juneau 99801

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

walter phillippi 706 drexel ave Springfield 45505

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim Hughes 1439 S Ridgeley Dr Los Angeles 90019

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonney Dyer 128 Court St. C42 Plymouth MA PLYMOUTH 2360

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Guerriero
87 Patriot Circle,Mountain Top,PA
Mountain Top 18707

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra Ewing
9900 Welshpool Ct.
40199

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katie

Benbow

Farnhurst
Road

0

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

421
Westbrook
, Brookville

Steve

McNew

Oh 45309 Brookville 45309

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara and Howard Brent 47 Campus
Club Drive Guilderland 12084

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Tracy Foster 290
Steelmanvi Egg Harbor
lle Road Township 8234

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Ribakove 335 Cedar Hill Road Wappingers Falls, NY 12590

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Garrick Balk 236 Prairie Street South Elgin 60177

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul McDonald 5542 Beverly Ave NE, Tacoma, WA Tacoma 98422

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela Miller 600 W Sterns Road Apt D e Temperanc 48182

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff Walline 2206 Bodily St. Idaho Falls 83401

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karla Salas 12133 Benson Ave Chino 91710

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

carol olson 42577 RONAN 59864 rolling rd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Momtaz Begum 8 Avenue 1
 Terrace

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dani Piazza 1930 Criollo Way, Morgan Hill, CA Morgan Hill 95037

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne O'Sullivan 446 W. 50th St. New York 10019

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori Caudill 2073 Ferrell Ave. LOS OSOS 93402

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LeeAnn Valdez 406 6th st sw Moultrie 31768

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith Hart 182 Tierra Encantada Corrales 87048

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Bryna Loewer 345 n.e. 14th ter. cape coral fl Cape Coral 33909

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15357
Ponderosa
Loop

La Pine

97739

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy

Phillips

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7541 Black Squirrel Trail

Hamilton

45011

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rob

Mahoney

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel Rosenberg 500 W. 43rd St NEW YORK 10036

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Gerbich 212 S. Main Street Gibsonburg 43431

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Midge Gerbich 212 S. Main Street Gibsonburg 43431

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth Wachowiak 10970 56th Minneapolis Ave. N. s 55442

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elin Heard p. o. box 304 Jerome 86331

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

SIDNEY BARNES 1303 Natchez Road Franklin 37069

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bettye Roberts 2523 sandridge Hephzibah 30815

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lanette Ward 1120 Briarcliff Rd NE, Apt 2 ATLANTA 30306

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

423
Washingto n st apt
103

Monroe 48161

justin batdorf

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1417 audrey
drive

Strawberry 95375

sydney brown

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4688
Georgetow
n Rd.

Indianapolis 46254

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken Driver

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7795
Peninsula
Exp.

Dundalk 21222

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. Edward Nitsch

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond Arent

1 Belleview Severna
Dr. Park

21146

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie Miller

1730 290th
St. Toledo

52342

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl Anderson 1903 Culbertson Ave New Albany 47150

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Andersen 425 5th St Boone 50036

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna Rincon 3025 Waterdanc e dr nw Kennesaw 30152

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mark hundley 1412 audubon dr. Columbus 47203

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott Gabel 47 Cinnamon Teal Aliso Viejo 92656

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron Murray 7Wood St Batavia 14020

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

555
GREENBREI
R DRIVE
APT 41

Oceanside 92054

MARIO BOYD

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

513
Pebblecree k Drive

Garland 75040

Leslie Jones

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Danzeisen 4516 Hillsboro Av. N Minneapolis 55428

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johnson Tsui 74 Seaview avenue STATEN ISLAND 10304

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heidi Erhardt PO Box 792074 Paia 96779

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Richard Newmark 810 Woodduck drive Saint Paul 55125

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy Heisel
882 Peachcreek Rd
Centerville 45458

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn Fisher
7242 Lynn Road
Bellaire 49615

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen Brown 156 Bypass Road Wells 4090

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Bonnie Lambert 835 pond road martinsville e va. Martinsville 24112

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russell Se 100 Elm Street GREENFIELD D 1301

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Tomas 125 Juniper Rd. Ruidoso 88345

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1415 Main
Street
#233

Dunedin

34698

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele

Madden

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

741
Woodruff
Rd

Greenville

29607

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise

James

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Mehrazar 409 Red Birch Road Millersville 21108

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Connie Gomz 299 Sycamore Lane Islandia 11749

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arlete Anderson P. O. Box 6377 Pahrump 89041

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica Watson 417 21st Street Schenectady 12304

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

6104
bristol ridge dr. Canal
Winchester 43110

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

joe williams

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

828
National
Rd West Richmond 47374

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce Dodds

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nivo Rovedo 1 Subdance Lagrangevill Rd e 12540

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

sue Miller 3142 Yorkshire Road Cleveland 44118

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Umair Aslam Pakistan 44000

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Joe Versical 34304 Jefferson Ave Harrison Twp. 48045

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois Ricci 1 Morton Place Gloucester 1930

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew Chilsen 6207 7th Ave Kenosha 53143

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

11511
Arroyo
Creek Lane Tomball

77377

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amanda White

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4
Sycamore WINTER
Ct. SPRINGS

32708

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew Lazin

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

5706
Tonyawath
a trail

Madison

53716

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard

Zabriskie

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8
Woodland
Ct Apt 3C

Lombard

60148

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shane

Phillips

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

90 Flat
Meadow
Rd.

Guilford

6437

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John

Reid

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

34 dawson road Kendall
Park

8824

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen

Walker

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine Erdner 1012 Farm Lane Ambler 19002

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Azia Singh 2 Markham Fold 0

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon Cohan PO Box 63 Fortine 59918

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara Perez-Reid Guilford, CT Guilford 6437

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3723
Green Oak
Ct

Parkville

21234

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nikki

Wojtalik

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8393
Yorkshire
St. NW

Massillon

44646

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zachary

Dunne

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robyn Barnes 1211K Trillium Circle Raleigh 27606

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Hillard 8406 Shadowwood Ave Broken Arrow 74011

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz Jones 103 auburn Londonderry rd. y 3053

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John McGowan 519 S. 71st St. Milwaukee 53214

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2555
Elmwood St. Cuyahoga Falls 44221

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William Lewis

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

19901
Martinsville BELLEVILLE 48111

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay Brainerd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elyce M. Benham, M.S. Avenue Portland 97217
5216 N. Gay

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence Carter 241 Hungry Spring Hollow Rd Valley 10977

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Hand 42 S Dunton Ave Patchogue 11772

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole Davis 125 Riverwalk Ct. Irmo 29063

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

520 S.
Sherman
St., Apt. 4

Denver

80209

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catnip

Frederick

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2424 E.
109th St

Kansas City

64131

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terence

Gunn

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

148
Melbourne
Ave

Jeffrey

Bradian

Boardman

44512

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4201 Las Virgenes
Rd

Athena

Clevenger

Calabasas

91302

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karla Worrell 205 N 4th St.502 Richmond 23219

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gregory Wright 14161 Riverside Dr Sherman Oaks 91423

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nami H 915 N Wilton Pl Los Angeles 90038

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter Cook PO Box 1567 Andrews 28901

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1322
Brooke
Park Dr #5 Toledo

43612

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lisa
bradley

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15450,
Nisqualli
Road Apt.
P203

Victorville 92395

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meghan
Barnhart

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana Moss Po box 551730 Kapaau 96755

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

angela crystal 5752 Crescent landing st Las Vegas 89113

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric Baumann Meadow Brook rd Ellington 6029

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacques Powers   Encino 91416

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3844
Gordon Hill
Dr. Springfield 45502

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

barbara shuirr

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

6723 W
87TH
PLACE Los Angeles 90045

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J W White

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam MacKenzie 4004 NE 39th St Vancouver 98661

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen Rohlfing 2550 Goshawk Ln Lincoln CA 95648

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

H. Leff 1365 Taylor St SAN FRANCISCO 94108

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Matthew Hansen 2527 REMINGTON CT Merced 95340

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

* The Industry continues to SCREW the American public with the help of CORRUPT politicians!

David Salcido P.O. Box 35518 Tucson 85740

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela Wai'olena P.O. Box 6416 Kamuela 96743

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

95
Henrietta
St.

Rochester 14620

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Mount
PO Box 768 Shasta

96067

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry Youll

Lori Crockett

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

62 Park
Terrace
West

New York 10034

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marva Lilly

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2260
Lansford
Ave.

San Jose 95125

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Murray

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shannon Twist Street Austin 78748

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Samantha Wilk 19896
State Mount
Route 9 Vernon 98274

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

106
Pinehurst Schenectad
Place y 12304

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Ferlazzo

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

211 Housatonic
Street Lenox 1240

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bhavani
Lorraine Nelson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Aileen Judd
148 Maplew
ood Road
Huntington Station
11746

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Katrina &
William
Dresbach
134
Latimer Ct.
P.O.Box
2066 sheffield
Lake, Oh
SHEFFIELD
LAKE
44054

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie Klemme 1905 Clermont St. Denver 80220

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Darlene Brown 900 vanessa court WINDSOR 95492

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4848
Deadwood
Camp Ct.

Las Cruces 88011

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen Fischmann

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

321 East 71
Street,
New York, NY

NEW YORK 10021

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Cox

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Miller 70-08 80th Street Ridgewood 11385

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia Lawson 29158 St. SPRING Hwy. 46W BRANCH 78070

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Simon Springall 7577 SW Vlahos Dr Wilsonville 97070

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jason Priest 1740 Laguna Street, Apt D Concord 94520

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Robert Balnicky 125 56th Ave So. Villa 57 SAINT PETERSBURG 33705

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Francisco Holdman 22745 NE Halsey #82 Fairview 97024

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

9073
Craydon
CIRClE

San Ramon 94583

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue Alexander

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2935 Judah San St Francisco

94122

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul Foppe

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathie Schenk 3954 Cochran Simi Valley 93063

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Carol Adamec 124 Marlowe Lane NE ALBUQUERQUE 87113

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy Campbell 90955 Conotton rd Bowerston ohio Bowerston 44695

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David King 217 E 8th St LA, CA Los Angeles 90014

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

4200 Joy
Road
Occidental
CA

Occidental 95465

Dunham Sherer

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am a paying consumer for nearly fifteen (15) years, and since our cable company did its merger, our cable prices have been skyrocketing, and our service has been lousy. Our cable is constantly being interrupted. The. cable company is taking advantage of its customers, and robbing us blind!. Please take the power out of cable companies. and return it to the paying consumer..

13417
Suttter Mil
Rd.

Poway

92064

Sincerely,
Portia A.

Portia

Allen

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sali Diamond 667 Alameda Astoria 97103

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daily Hooper 666 NOFB Phoenix 85022

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

W132
S6585

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary

Mitchell

Saroyan Rd Muskego

53150

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

14218
Farmington
Rd

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia

Hernandez-
Rivera

Livonia

48154

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

189
weldon
road

Manchester 8759

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur DeFazio

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

806 Cultus
Mountain
Dr, Sedro-
Wooley
WA

Sedro
Woolley 98284

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles McCallan

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly Seymour 11651 s. 145th st. e. Mulvane 67110

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keiko M. 9 Mayfair Drive San Francisco 94118

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1601 Olive
St APT 802,
Eugene, OR Eugene 97401

Michael Clark

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3300 Deer
Valley Rd Rescue 95672

Rubina Alvi

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

216
Palisade
DR Eureka Springs

72631

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric Torgerson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

890 9th
Ave NW Saint Paul

55112

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr. William
'Skip' Dykoski

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1860 golden gate

San Francisco

94115

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diedra

Booker

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3125
Whispering Oaks

Woodridge

60517

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roseanne

Yerges

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Sheffield 3825 S Cuba St Spokane 99223

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raven Vergara Lynx Lane Charlotte 28078

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt Johnson 10007 bellona ct. richmond 23233

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Micki Selvitella 3340 SE Morrison St. Portland 97214

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dixie Edwards 2039 44th Ave Longview 98632

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily Storar 5031 Karbet Way Sacramento 95822

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tadeus Prastowo Springdale 15144

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol Miller 2653 Northridge Ann Arbor 48108

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

402
Brighton av
NE Palm Bay 32907

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Fine

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15 Kay
Blvd.,
Newport RI Newport 2840

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy Byrnes

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice McDaniel 3240 S. HARSENS Channel Dr ISLAND 48028

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William La Salle 211 E. 6th st. Duluth 55805

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank Hahn 818 Frankfort KY Frankfort 40601

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia Stoll 535 Hinman Ave Evanston 60202

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

502A
Primrose Drive Copperas Cove

76522

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane Dunn

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3275 El Camino
Real Atherton

94027

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa Winterling

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4020
Garfield
Ave S Minneapolis

55409

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn Stark

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

60 Franklin
St Amityville

11701

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret Western

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen Schmiege 2928 Hyder ALBUQUER Ave. SE QUE 87106

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jorden Ridenhour 3800 Grandlake Blvd. Kenner 70065

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila Cooley 4304 Yosemite Ct SUWANEE 30024

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William Toner 9 highland ave MC GRAW 13101

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris Jensen 409 Saint Sabre Dr. Belleville 62226

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen Flynn 345 East 69 St #9G New York 10021

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7602
Quarda Dr
Pasco WA Pasco 99301

Jon Slater

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1215
Glenmeade MARYLAND
Drive HEIGHTS 63043

Robert Gore

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

9819
Portside
Terrace

Joanne Carey Bradenton 34212

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

914 Tulane
Ave

James Brummer SALINA 67401

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G Claycomb 3115 Byrd Dr INDIANAPO LIS 46227

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jerry R Landers 7803 Woodcroft Dr Austin 78749

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G Claycomb 3115 Byrd Dr INDIANAPOLIS 46227

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Terence Carey 5300 s Atlantic AV New Smyrna Beach 32169

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

roberta wallitt coddington rd ithaca 14850

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Teresa Risinger 528 Northpoint Circle Santa Maria 93455

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

850 N
RAndolph
St apt 226 Arlington 22203

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis Ting

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1200
Rainbow Silver
Dr Spring 20905

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sebastian Smoot

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

126 Ken's
Lane West
Salem, WI West Salem 54669

LeRoy Krall

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

801 S.
Lucerne
Blvd. #208 Los Angeles 90005

Deana Igelsrud

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

gene turner pob 162 janesville 50647

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8727
candlewoo

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

charles krueger d trl #1 Brighton 48116

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph White PO Box 1552 Cedar Rapids 52406

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Bernard Offen 29193 Northwest ern Hwy.#539 Southfied 48034

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian

Koss

902 Azalea LEAGUE
Pointe CITY

77573

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian

Koss

902 Azalea LEAGUE
Pointe CITY

77573

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

wendy Niemeyer 1156 Lorraine Ave Waterloo 50702

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Patrick & Penny Eggleston 9 Conifer Lane Amherst 3031

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1156
Lorraine
Ave

Waterloo 50702

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

wendy

Niemeyer

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1156
Lorraine
Ave

Waterloo 50702

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

wendy

Niemeyer

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

wendy Niemeyer 1156 Lorraine Ave Waterloo 50702

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beatrix Perez 27 bridge lane Enfield 6082

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katharine Dennybrown Quisset ct Warwick 561 2886

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Elizabeth Kochar 40Petrova Ave. Saranac Lake 12983

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken Yoskowitz 2183
DeMille Rd PARADISE 95969

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Tommy Thompson 1081
Crescent Drive Logan 84341

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris Young 501 S Florida Ave Lakeland 33801

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gloria Edinger 14415 Front Beach Rd Panama City Beach 32413

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William Korbelt 505 West River Road WATERLOO 13165

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amber MacPherson P.O. Box 365 Rollinsville 80474

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy

Sullivan

3720 24th St. San Francisco 94114

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Susan

Oelkers

537 Gutheil Place #2 Lyndhurst 7071

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lev Earle Plymouth Ave Rochester 14608

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Loretta Murin 255 West 108th Street New York 10025

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melinda Threet 111 Johnson Terrace Ct. City 37601

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Marina Volfovich 740 CENTRAL ST UNIT H16 Leominster 1453

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1359s. vanness San ave.,s.f.,ca. Francisco 94110

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

valerie nn

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4140 N
Clark Fresno 93726

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonnie Hammon

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

10100
Council TRVERSE
Oak Drive CITY 49686

John Haskin

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

35 jerome LINDENHUR
st. ST 11757

Thomas Clark

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvonne Brumleve 303 Stodghill Place Louisville 40223

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Ayers Hillsdale Hillsdale 7642

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine Grace 275 Attig Road, Selinsgrove, PA Selinsgrove 17870

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne St. Pierre Oak Heights Ct SALEM 97306

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Wills 4600 Lillian Hwy PENSACOLA 32506

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shalon Nakashima 286 Iron Duke Ave Las Vegas 89183

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

5110

Madison

Ave

Lincoln, NE Lincoln

68504

Arda

Pounds

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

35 Rose St Geneva

14456

David

King

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Baier 2930 Geneva St Dearborn 48124

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald Priest 11054 Botsford Ln Petoskey 49770

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory Coutinho
115 Bennett Ave 32B
NEW YORK 10033

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Maria Ashby
3128 calderwood hwy
Maryville 37801

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

727
Braeburn
Ln

Narberth 19072

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Haber

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

727
Braeburn
Ln

Narberth 19072

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard Haber

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

2672 cambridge
st vancouver
BC

v5k1I5

Elwyn

Patterson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

727
Braeburn
Ln

Narberth

19072

Nancy

Haber

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

727
Braeburn
Ln

Narberth 19072

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Haber

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

10730
Church St.
#360

Rancho Cucamonga 91730

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mia Dravis

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2317
Shepard
Blvd.

Columbia

65201

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer

Layton

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

141 Court
Street

Chardon

44024

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael

Schisler

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda Reese 130 Shelley Ave CAMPBELL 95008

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

young klessig 3740 N Claremont ave CHICAGO 60618

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia Greene 1323 leafwood drive #10 Novato 94947

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Caswell POB 347 Paauilo 96776

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gloria Carlton 841 Eastridge Drive Hailey 83333

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adele Caulkins 4416 SE Hwy 101 Lincoln City 97367

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Corrine DiMarco 4811 Fayann Street ORLANDO 32812

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles Easter 4 Mary Paul Lane Merrimack 3054

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol Patton 321 Rugby Ave. Berkeley 94708

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine Laprade 22 charles street Douglas 1516

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine Laprade 22 charles street Douglas 1516

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Frank Picco 609 Worth Hinton Rd Apt F Zebulon 27597

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine Laprade 22 charles street Douglas 1516

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl Fisher 13407 SE Nixon Ave Portland 97222

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

I Trigonis Century Pl N MIDDLETO 53562

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin Subramanian 613 Joppa Farm Road Joppa 21085

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lori Lerner
350 East 65
Street,
apt.6 NEW YORK 10065

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jane Hanley
1529
Scotch Schenectad
Ridge Road y 12306

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1529
Scotch Schenectad
Ridge Road y 12306

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane Hanley

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

236 Prairie
St. South Elgin 60177

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Garrick Balk

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ashley Dickinson 104 SW 4th St. Des Moines 50309

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda Shore 4628 N Lowell Ave Chicago 60630

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

12805 Magnolia
Mound Trl Austin

78727

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah Stone

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

257 Wilson
St Winona

55987

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan Pelowski

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lori Lerner
350 East 65
Street,
apt.6 NEW YORK 10065

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lori Lerner
350 East 65
Street NEW YORK 10065

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Prater
1008 N
Parker Ave. Indianapolis 46201

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Scott Teel
710 N.
Cayuga St.,
Apt. 3 Ithaca 14850

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Torrey Rigan 961 w 21st Merced 95340

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Randall Morris 5524 NE Rancho Way, Mtn. Home, ID Mountain Home 83647

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher Pauck

2820 Lenox
Drive Troy

48098

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin Goutos

202 N
Jefferson
St Staunton

24401

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2217 W
Pacific Ave
Apt 104 SPOKANE 99201

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack Lloyd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2217 W.
Pacific Ave.
Apt. 104 SPOKANE 99201

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene Davies

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor Hunter 9915 S Wood St Chicago 60643

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Shelby Wilson 110 Torrington Ave Fletcher 28732

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah Gurvitch
18 Norwottuc
k Dr Hadley 1035

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

s d 1 Oakland 94607

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ricxhard Kauffman 333 ski Mount village dr Shasta 96067

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lisa Kipers 10330
Mountain
Dew Circle Reno 89523

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy Spane Chaffee, MO Chaffee 63740

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

9729 S AVE
H,
CHICAGO

RAUL INSURRIAGA ILL Chicago 60617

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn Cox 3336 31st Street San Diego 92104

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa Roden 6918 N 41st Street Milwaukee 53209

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Correia Olympia Olympia 98501

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Thomas Ellis 2218 S Phoenix Avenue Tulsa 74107

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roman Thuesen 1015 Terri Drive Bartlesville 74006

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paul Gustab 7234 W. North Avenue Elmwood Park 60707

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam Cornford 111 Pread St. #6 San Leandro 94577

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

pamela rogers 10015 Alondra Blvd Bellflower 90706

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stuart Leigh Box 757 Stone Ridge 12484

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Armando Garza 409 E. Wm. Cannon Dr #130 Austin 78745

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2000
Ashwood
Ave. Apt. C Nashville

37212

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lydia Wheeler

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

185 Julie
Rd Tyrone

30290

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lia Spezzano

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Kornovich 1 Oregon St. Richmond 94801

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

B.A. Grodhaus PO Box 846, Selma, OR Selma 97538

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Herron PO Box 34201 CHARLOTTE 28234

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Allen Strous 1339 Spangler Road Circleville 43113

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Ouderkirk 524 Main St A PHOENIX 13135

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Collon Brown 2899 Collins Avenue MIAMI BEACH 33140

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert Fleck 449 e 14 New York 10009

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Desirae Golis 1110 27th Court Anacortes 98221

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie Gilley 1948 1/2 Echo Rd. Stow 44224

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

LouAnn Ballew 16541 Redmond Way PMB 207C Redmond 98052

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8514
Woodcliff
Rd

Emerald Isle 28594

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald Warren

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3218
Canary

Midlothian 76065

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul Hopwood

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leana Bosley 439 Ewing Way WYLIE 75098

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Georgia Feasel 262 Dutchtown Road Owego 13827

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1611 E
Mitchell St,
Tucson, AZ Tucson 85719

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

margaret flyntz

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

70 Brown
Avenue HOLYOKE 1040

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

david j. lafond

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen Schmiege 2928 Hyder ALBUQUER Ave. SE QUE 87106

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Ann Fritchie 2216 N. Hemlock Spokane 99205

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara Isley
2935 E. Andrews Ave., Fresno
Fresno 93726

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Minal Patel
469 Brighton ave
Portland 4102

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sandra koker 6408 highland dr. Everett 98203

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George Burgess 703 Mason Street Westbury 11590

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica Likens 8137 Santa Inez Way Buena Park 90620

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

CHERI PARKER 40593 RANCH RD. Slidell 70461

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl McGraw 1004 Braxton Ct. Raleigh 27606

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paul Mirsalis 271 Richmond Rd. Cleveland 44143

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer Crommett 500 Salem St Medford 2155

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

patrice carter Berry Fort Worth 76119

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nora Sotomayor 19 Clough Rd. Dedham 2026

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

C. Argall 45675 Deep Canyon Road PALM DESERT 92260

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kirsten Stone oak haven Baton Rouge 70810

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne Clark 704 Cass St Portage 53901

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald Miller 9670 E. Corrine Dr Scottsdale 85260

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kelly adam 22111 w 51 st Shawnee 66226

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

O M 64 Clarksburg 95612

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jason Eli Camarillo Springs Road Camarillo 93012

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane Sevald 7755 Noffke Dr. CALEDONIA 49316

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Wendy Mizanin 5963 Meadowsgl en Drive DUBLIN 43017

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1816
Leonard
Drive

Walla Walla 99362

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Javon Monahan

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

13 Champions
Circle

SOMERVILL
E 8876

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce Johnson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah Roark 125 Van
 Buren blvd Terre Haute 47803

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa Matos 45 Country
 Club Road Willingboro 8046

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin Lande 315 N Alta Vista Blvd Los Angeles 90036

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anton Demidov 204 Windy Hill Dr Dawsonville 30534

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

73550
Cabazon
Peak Drive Palm Desert 92260

Jackie Elgart

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15208
crown
dr.minneto
nka,mn Minnetonka 55345

Norm evidon

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James R. Dawson 2721 W 182 St Torrance 90504

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne Flottman 2721 W 182 St Torrance 90504

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan Heist Brookline, MA Brookline 2446

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arnie Lieber 27 houtman Saugerties 12477

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen Frakes 378 Carson Rd Helenwood 37755

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

lillian ellis 254 whitepond road Stormville 12582

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Rosalie Nabors 6350 Red Cedar Place 202 Baltimore 21209

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Kristyn MacPhail 9236 W EUCLID AVE Littleton 80123

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cecily Lopes 75 Pearson Ave Pawtucket 2860

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike Walkow 356 17 Th St nw Willmar 56201

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

19201

Vista Lane, Indian Indian Rocks
Shores, FL Beach

33785

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

6232 W.
Holbrook

Chicago

60646

Elisabeth

Carroll

Ann

Waller

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard Schatzman 850 W Grand Ave. Oakland 94607

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paris Marron 171 Pier Avenue #290 Santa Monica 90405

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy Thome
7313 Beecher Rd PATASKALA 43062

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MARINA ABBOTT
212 COLORADO Streator 61364

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marty Adelman Riva.md Riva 21140

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Maratos 67 N Bell St Fond du Lac 54935

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy McDonald P.O. BOX 225 Victor 80860

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Catherine Farnham 2118 Wilshire #796 Santa Monica 90403

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcelo G. Gonzalez 19 Helen ave Freehold 7728

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Catherine Farnham 2118 Wilshire #796 Santa Monica 90403

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew Reid 1311 Pine St Calistoga 94515

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jason davis 898 Wynnehurst St Pensacola 32503

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vreni Rod purdy RYE 10580

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean Pritchett 2114 e florida st Long Beach 90814

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

165
Pawnee
Drive

Boulder

80303

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim

Grelle

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1541
Moritz DR.,
Houston,
Tx

Houston

77055

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roslyn

Gillcrese

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia Linstrom 2420
Marina Ln
SE Lacey 98503

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

eileen tegg la costa Naples 34105

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda Gilstrap 1168 EAST AVE J6 Lancaster 93535

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia Nadreau 24191 Dial Avenue Tomah 54660

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert Vargas 22413 18th Ave SE Bothell 98021

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ter badger 440 derby lane PASO ROBLES 93446

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randolph LeBlanc
303 Parfait Rd,
Carencro, LA Carencro 70520

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher Trice
3733 n goldenrod Rd 1402 Winter Park 32792

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberta Newman 300 Monte Vista Ave. MILL VALLEY 94941

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Brian Flannigan 27922 Avenida Cuaderno Rancho Palos Verdes 90275

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randal Little 11789 Fraser St. BRIGHTON 80603

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy Caesar 2435 Grant St. Berkeley 94703

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret Moulden 1026 NE 65th Street Seattle 98115

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Mary Hogan 3076 S. Rodehaver Rd. GUYSVILLE 45735

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1429
Pandora Ave
LOS ANGELES
90024

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Price

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

526 Sunny
Valley Loop
Wolf Creek
OR Wolf Creek
97497

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheryl Benton

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hillary Sametz Campbell Kansas City 64110

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7313
Calibre
Park Drive,

Jeremy Fischer Apt 308 Durham 27707

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt
Versweyveld
1330 Truitt
Street
Glendale
91201

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Janet
Estep
3140 SW
Westwood
Dr
Portland
97225

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

15089
Verbena
Street

BRIGHTON 80602

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josephine Hinkson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8757 Elon
Trail
Jonesboro
Ga

Jonesboro 30237

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mamie Reid

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca Berlant Brooklyn, NY Brooklyn 11231

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ismael baquedano 6918 West 29 Avenue Hialeah 33018

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1001
Wayson
Way Davidsonvill
e

21035

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anette Stauske

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2212
Madagasca
r Lane

Las Vegas

89117

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richrd Nelson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

4480
Newport
Hwy

Greeneville 37743

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet Rudd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

20391
eastwood
dr

Harper
Woods 48225

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gian Colista

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward O'Brien 3400 Vinton Ave., #209, Los Angeles, CA 90034 Los Angeles 90034

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Daniel Lutzker 24 Lake Celeste Drive Garrison 10524

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K. Arnone 1770 Bay Ridge Parkway 2F Brooklyn 11204

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annie Carbonneau 317 Marquette 10000

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ethan Maas 905 15 St Bellingham 98225

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse v .

Farren Block P.o. box 1086 Waimea Waimea 96796

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

3817
Devonshire
Dr.
Salisbury,
Md

Salisbury 21804

Keith Eagle

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

607 kingsley
street

Normal 61761

Matthew Gerjol

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1657
avndale
ave

Toledo

43607

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael

Jackson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

208
Hampstead
Dr

Wylie

75098

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edmundo

Moncayo

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Chismar 6 York Dr Apt 6A Edison 8817

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Debbie Woods 4513 Fairway Drive Rohnert Park 94928

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Audrey Brownell 2311
E.Electra Phoenix 85024

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Patty Kellogg Mancheste r Road Newton 2461
Highlands

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy Simms Friendswo od, Tx Friendswoo d 77546

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

i should be able to provide my own box, purchased else where, that cable should be required to connect through .. as long as i am paying the bill for the channels i specify, why would cable have a problem with that? and why are they allowed to charge a monthly fee for a box i can't or don't own but i could if i was allowed to buy at MUCH a lower cost ?

Mark Butler 1523 taylor ave, bronx ny Bronx 10460

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K.L. Mueller E 833 Rt. 103 Warner 3278

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe Towns PL SE 8022 151st Snohomish 98296

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

200
Pineview Road WEST
COLUMBIA 29169

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

June Cattell

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

KAUKALIA
ST,MILILANI
I,Honolulu Mililani 96789

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandre Mota

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnne Fisher Fisher Chicago 60631

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

314A 72ND
AVE N

Mark Carroll Myrtle Beach, SC Myrtle Beach 29572

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth Minniti 7045
 Lane Bennington
 Cumming 30041

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Treasa Weatherlow 5 risa court Newark 19702

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Niendorf 508 Kelsando Friday Harbor 98250

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paul Thurston 2855 Gammon Town Road Bumpass 23024

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry Lawver 6145 Miller woods In. Indianapolis 46237

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Carolyn Powers 13401 Abinger Drive Little Rock 72212

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3716 W
Country
Gables dr Phoenix 85053

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geralee Gray

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

101
Drummond
Dr Wilmington 19808

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tricia Herron

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gregory Gordon 502A Norwood St Brainerd 56401

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Julie Holm 10845 sw summer lake drive, tigard oregon Portland 97223

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marieke Bermon 13681 Water Springs Court Centreville 20121

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Eric von Foerster 4845 Transit Rd Apt E4 Depew 14043

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan Johnson 178 BENNETT LOT RD South Berwick 3908

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Lefavour 30 Summer St Gloucester 1930

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James Lewis 1517 7th St.PI. SE Puyallup 98372

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hollis Polk PO Box 265 Mill Valley 94942

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra Barringer 3062 Santa Barbara 93105
Foothill Rd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri Deal-Tyne PO Box 894 Iowa City 52244

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey

Smith

6513 Deer REISTERSTO
Park Rd. WN 21136

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

James

Stagnitta

10804 E.
Mexico Ave. Aurora 80012

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat Eaton 2012 Daves Ave Moscow 83843

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Gary Dinan 6005 Suzanne Road Waldorf 20601

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antoinette Sanchez 356 Via Coches SAN LORENZO 94580

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antonette Figueiredo 109 Pine St Ashland 97520

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joy Benetti 569 Squirrel Bnd Uvalde 78801

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald Hermes PO Box 697 Coupeville 98239

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

973 10th St
Pasadena
MD

Pasadena 21122

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda Copper

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8
Sycamore
St E #2

Three Oaks 49128

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason Maynard

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle Santos-Chavez
12002 Red Ibis Lane Orlando 32817

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Lawrence Dungan
18714 Pintail Lane Gaithersburg Md. Gaithersburg 20879

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justina Powell 310 Fox St. Ojai 93023

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

cate abicht 315 colegate drive marietta 45750

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly Fraser 11790 Gruen St Sylmar 91342

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jamie Reynolds 4259 Broomsage Dr. FAYETTEVILLE 72701

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1950
Cushman
Dr.

Columbia 29204

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony

Wilson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3977
Flannery
Lane

HIGH POINT 27265

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LUCY

TYNDALL

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Davis 8049 SE Ogden St PORTLAND 97206

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kathleen obre 1055 Laguna wykoff way Beach 92651

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl Gale 104 Alpine St. Carbondale 81623

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Edelstein 308 Heidinger Drive Cary 27511

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty Carlisle Muskrat Bay Rd Brewerton 13029

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Denise Van Hoose 848 Mollison B1 El Cajon 92021

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen Battis PO Box 221, Middleboro, MA Middleboro 2346

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra Gakeler 11503 Overland Rosehill Rd Park 66210

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1866 SW
Palm City
Rd. #307

Stuart

34994

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine Zack

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2719 184th
St.,
Redondo
Beach, CA

Redondo
Beach

90278

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary Nunes

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

7840
Sutcliff
Court

Dublin

43016

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandon

Culver

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

6164 Pine
Villa Ave
Unit 102

LAS VEGAS

89108

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold

Barling

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

817 w
Pedregosa St Santa
Barbara 93101

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven Ganter

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

20936
Gresham Street, Apt. #2 Canoga
Park 91304

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheila Guy

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eldon Lopes 89 Bob St. 2860

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark OFFERMAN 15 Park Row, 19E NEW YORK 10038

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris Hunter 113 Salem drive Monroe 71202

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle Wright 3515 W. Franklin Blvd Chicago 60624

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen Shovein 25527 Melody St. Taylor 48180

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Glenn Barclift 15204 bareback dr Jacksonville 32234

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd Richmond 2031 NE Hillaire Dr. Hillsboro 97124

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mina Baccelli 312 Bourn Ave Somerset 2726

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin
Ripmaster
182e
Morningsid
e DR SE
Grand Rapids
49506

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Benita J.
Campbell
23
Hindman
Ave Burgettsto
wn
15021

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1823

Morningside SE, Grand Rapids, MI

Robin

Ripmaster

49506

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

336 W 95

St Apt #53 New York

Chris

mcginn

10025

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom Gurule 7324 Skillman Street #2318 DALLAS 75231

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian Tingle 1224 N Modoc Ave. Unit 57 Medford 97504

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1900
Maurice
Ave

Missoula

59801

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katie

Goidich

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

11335
redmond-
woodinville
rd. ne

Redmond

98052

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken

Mincin

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

11554
Cedar Brook Road Roscoe

61073

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn Yeske

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

45 Inkster
Ave

Kalamazoo 49001

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K R Artz-Iffland

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie Chesser 3210 Osceola st Denver 80212

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Brandon Buerkle 800 W 1st ST, Newberg, OR NEWBERG 97132

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

11554
Cedar Brook Road Roscoe

61073

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

5583
Berkeley
st.

Montclair

91763

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn

Yeske

Rene

Huerta

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herb Hartman Kiser Lane.
Troy,Ohio TROY 45373

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

cathrine spencer 8135
mimosa place, boynton BOYNTON
beach, fl BEACH 33472

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

21
Ashwood West
Terrace Orange 7052

Mariah Rupp

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

47 Hidden
Brook
Drive STAMFORD 6907

Elizabeth Tuminski

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

47 Hidden
Brook
Drive

STAMFORD 6907

Elizabeth Tuminski

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

26 Old Mill
Rd.

MAYNARD 1754

Leslie Sternberg

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald Nadreau 24191 Dial Avenue Tomah 54660

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jason Inscho 1604 Se 41st Avenue Portland 97214

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary Keyes 735 peach
Way Earlysville 22936

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Catherine Farnham 2118
Wilshire Santa
#796 Monica 90403

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2020
Francis
ave.

Santa Clara 95051

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Morgan Darknell

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

118 W
MAIN ST
APT 1

Marshallto
wn 50158

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KATHERINE LAKE

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

khabira mcdow-keeper no Portland 97231

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Shirley Duprey 229 Miles street Ypsilanti 48198

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8961
Antigua
Drive

SEMINOLE 33777

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas Marsh

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

14125
Yacht Club
Blvd

Seminole 33776

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice Jochum

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine Lake

118 West Main St.
Marshalltown 50158

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Jeffrey Alguire

1800 Ruffin St
Durham 27701

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heidi Nikischer 920 Hopkins Rd Buffalo 14221

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Sandra Herring 145 Riverwood Dr., Hendersonville, TN 37075

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenn Knoblock 12 Emery
Street Joliet 60436

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen M Skiles PO Box
85335 Tucson 85754

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry Gaynor 16Hutchinson Whitman 2382

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry Gaynor 16 Hutchinson Terrace Whitman 2382

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Danielle Shannon 3044 n Elbridge Chicago 60618

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Stacie Charlebois 701 GRANDVIE W RD Sebastopol 95472

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna Preston Sioux City, IA Sioux City 51104

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

patricia mason 80B Scotland Rd,P O Box 32 Winchester 3470

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Lear 821
#4 Hopkins 55343

smetana rd

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad Kinder 12
St. Fayetteville 25840

Roosevelt

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

3533
Campion Ave
Virginia Beach

23462

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Kleiber

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

419 N.
Royer
Colorado Springs

80907

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzie Awad

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen Kilcommons 1202 Lenox Ave. Winnfield 71483

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Derek Onysko 2286 Doc Holliday Dr. PARK CITY 84060

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph

Gray

619 E KANSAS
109th Ter CITY 64131

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hank

Keeton

4300 Briar
Knob Loop Scotts Mills 97375

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LaVeina Hunter 185 N
Pingree
Avenue
Apt 3 Ogden 84404

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zakkary Zoah 3904 Cedar
St #B Eureka 95503

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

2020
Francis Ave Santa Clara 95051

David Darknell

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1613 Henry
St Springfield 62703

Linda Canter

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracey Rollison Indianapolis 46227

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

André Marier 7010 Tisserand Av. Westbrook 4092

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Casey Barnes 8225 kinlock ave. Rancho Cucamonga 91730

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave May 19768 Electra CLINTON TOWNSHIP 48035

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry

Cooper

7656 price
avenue

Baton Rouge

70811

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy

O'Neil

14 Roysann
Way

Durham

3824

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia

Ruggiero

2368 New York Ave.

Huntington Station

11746

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen

Bradley

3220
N.Wilson
Way#1

Stockton

95205

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

35078
Waimea
Way

Winchester 92596

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leigh DiCarlo

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1424
Carson
Road,
Wilmington,
DE

Wilmington 19803

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marion Ehrlich

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia Ruge 1159 Broadway South Portland 4106

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward LeBlanc 531A DoloresSt. SANTA FE 87501

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth Hegarty 1669 Stephen St Ridgewood 11385

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael B box 3511 Attleboro 2703

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Natasha Saravanja cesar chavez street SAN FRANCISCO 94131

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alena Jorgensen 5941 kauffman Temple City 91780

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

nina callahan 533 rolling hills Coppell 75019

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth Clark 112 Sandy Lane Unionville 37180

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

10160
Reflections Fort
Blvd Lauderdale 33351

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mei Lou Klein

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

47 Bay
Drive
Massapequ Massapequ
a NY a 11758

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin O'Hagen

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2620
Linville
Ridge Lane Pflugerville 78660

Gina Quinn

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

33 Gilbert
Rd Needham 2492

James Mavor

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marylyn Devlin 321 Spring Run Dr. Monroeville 15146

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel Buckner 2242 Robin dr Clarksville 37042

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

8732
Alegre
Circle

ORLANDO 32836

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis Plazas

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

160 W.
87th St.

New York 10024

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert Gal

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael Sherman 155 Aster Street Winchester 97495

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Francine Sandomeno 241 E. Shore Lake Owassa Road Newton 7860

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven Berry 193 telford road 20000

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Benjamin Chavez 231 w. Horizon Ridge pkwy. Henderson 89012

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mara Quiara P O Box 12312 San Juan 914

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura Aldridge 118 N. Davis St. Ishpeming 49849

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

K. Guttormsen Pittsfield, MA Pittsfield 1201

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff Beard 3560 W Wood Dr Phoenix 85029

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

325 S.
Towamenci
n Ave.

Jeanine Dimmick

Lansdale 19446

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

285
Lafayette
St

Catherine DeGraw

New York 10012

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura Abercauph 37 Briarroot Lane Levittown 19054

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris Milani 429 Old Gulph Rd Narberth 19072

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

CHARLOTTE GRIECO
1402 S. Cape May
Route#9 Court
House 8210

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Wayne Vesely
438 Charles
Bancroft
Hwy. Litchfield 3052

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

3497
Johnson
Ferry Rd
NE

Roswell

30075

M

breitu

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

2045 Anza St.
Apt.1

San Francisco

94118

John

MacDevitt

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Lakardis 953 wildwood Rd Oradell 7649

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth Baker Woodacre Woodacre 94973

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom

Sloan

120 TUPPER
Stetson Rd LAKE

12986

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Andrew

Boland

2375 South
Lumpkin
Street Athens

30606

Please help end the institutionalized monopolies that the cable companies have. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Brath 39 South Street Hartford 53027

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

David LaValle 10151 Carriage Drive Plymouth 46563

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neill

Clayton-Smith

700 Harvey rd

Claymont

19703

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy

Folkerts

211 Hinton Rd

Columbia

65202

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances Rove 8615 Reinhardt Lane, Leawood Leawood 66206

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louis Tebou 11200 SW 8TH Street Miami 33199

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John Satter 3705 Armer Ave. Boulder 80305

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cameron Coder 1030 N. Sheffield Ave Indianapolis 46222

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roderick Tanner
7411 Autumn Ledge
Converse 78109

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Leonard Heether
11643 W Dickerson Lake Road
Trufant 49347

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimmie 1646
Whitecotton Lakeview
Ln Wylie 75098

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory 6-8 Walnut
Rosmaita Place Montclair 7042

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

12700
Ridgehave
n

Little Rock 72211

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David Bash

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

814
Chumleigh
Rd.

Baltimore 21212

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernadette Krol

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Ozzello	14055 Granite Ave - Suite 102	Saint Paul	55124
--------	---------	--	------------	-------

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	VanSalisbury	Y 224 Waterside Close Peekskill,N	Peekskill	10566
-------	--------------	---	-----------	-------

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

715
Avenida
Castellano Santa Fe

87501

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry Bahnsen

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

40 Village
Way Jefferson

1522

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelsey Sampson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin Lim 46 Allen Street. 2b New York 10002

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lee lock 527 e main Richardson 75081

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

171 S.
Kershaw
St., York PA York

17402

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy

Schlottag

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

10 STATE
ST

Westerly

2891

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madeleine

Keast

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madeleine Keast
10 STATE
ST Westerly 2891

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Peter Foltz
45 LaurelRidge
e Road Hershey 17033

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry Lockhart 527 main N RICHARDSON 75081

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony Giardina Box 158 Mount Kisco 10549

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

9
Creekmere Newport
Cove News 23603

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer Dreyer

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

PO Box
724,
Marstons Marstons
Mills MA Mills 2648

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth M Ferranti

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

6118
Roslyn
Street
MCKEESPO
RT

15135

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis

Belmares

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Grand doral drive
Island

32735

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve

DeCerchio

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel Ritzenthaler 28 Pinecrest Village Hopkinton 1748

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Krystal Weilage 835 15th St Butte 59701

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

345
Englewood
ave Bellwood 60104

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John cunniff

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

769 Twp.
Rd. 217,
Bloomingdale, Ohio
Bloomingdale 43910

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randal James

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

16
Mackworth Cumberlan
Ln. d Foreside

4110

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

407 South
Miller St. Reading

19607

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald

Walters

Charles and June

Dunn

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark Joyner Tujunga Ave North Hollywood 91601

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Ronald Walters 16 Mackworth Ln. Cumberland Foreside 4110

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judi Wilbur 24 Bradner Drive Warwick 10990

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Enrique Prangner 1624 Joe Porter Dr El Paso 79936

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy Herd 10392 Oak Shore Drive South Lyon 48178

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leah Simmons 85 Walnut St. Watertown 2472

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

1224 45
1/2 ave ne
Columbia
Heights
MN

Minneapolis

55421

Sean

Ronchetti

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

7984 Sand
Rd.

Brutus

49716

Robert

Rekasi

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert Rekasi 7984 Sand Rd. Brutus 49716

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie Burdick 138 N 20th St. Philomath 97370

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rahul Gupta
8516 Water Cay WEST PALM BEACH 33411

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Phoebe Wooding
32 McKelvey Avenue Pittsburgh 15218

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stan Carloss 1498 Dudley walk #c Cincinnati 45214

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon Cappuccio 220 marlyn Hammon to avenue n 8037

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Kocik 35 Stone Valley Rd Orange 1364

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean Bulford 26 Kemp CT Smyrna 19977

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

1305 Old
Pageland
Monroe Rd Monroe

28112

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa Pearson

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2405
Pixton Dr Killeen

76543

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen Voisin

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

William Hawkins
1408 North Main Street
Edwardsville
62025

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Elena Cotto
17 Houghton Street
SOMERVILLE
2143

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan Erhard 3460 NW POMPANO
110th Ter BEACH 33065

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Donne McKissic 6935
Frankstow
n Avenue Pittsburgh 15208

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah Therrien Hartford pike Dayville 6241

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee Michalsky 153 Pine View Avenue NANUET 10954

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin Very Any street Dayville 6241

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Steven Johnson 1359 Fox
Run #107,
Willoughby
, OH Willoughby 44094

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

christian smith 5425 bluesky Dr unit 14 CINCINNATI 45247

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Joan Koch 2224 Hwy 87E Lot #133 Billings 59101

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

156
Thunder
Hill Drive STAMFORD 6902

Tiffany Witmer

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

213 Crystal
Lake Road Tolland 6084

David Schneider

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paulette Tanem 3902 67th St E Inver Grove Heights 55076

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Alton Tyre 217 Sawmill Road CEDAR GROVE 27231

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen Brown 1320 east 10th ave Hutchinson 67501

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia Wilson 918 E. Moneta Ave. PEORIA HEIGHTS 61616

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DeUnna Taylor 665 N. Cypress St. JESUP 31546

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cara Kulwicki 202 E SQUIRE DR APT 6 Rochester 14623

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy

Heicher

498
Clermont Orange
Ave S. Park

32073

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Travis

Gruver

1114 Top O
Hollow Rd Ames

50010

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DENNIS BARBATO SR 3111 ocean Hollywood 33019

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Rebecca Felton 230 N. Caswell Avenue Southport 28461

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer Yukl 363 21st St. SE CEDAR RAPIDS 52403

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith Snider 7967 W Blue Heron Way TUCSON 85743

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

2743
Mauricia
Ave A Santa Clara 95051

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty Lawler

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

22
Deerfield
Dr. ROCHESTER 14609

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen Bellomo

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luis rosado 430 mill hill bridgeport 6610

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Mary Hansen 4917 SpaanemA ve Madison 53716

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Rhonda Lawford
50 lake st SOUTH
po box 220 WILMINGT
ON 60474

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Paul Gillespie
11321
Hickory
Creek Road Luther 73054

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul Cully 4 Patriot Ln Westford 1886

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

169
Goldenrod

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen Hileman Dr. Eaton 45320

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony Cardaropoli 39435 Daylily Pl. Palmdale 93551

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy Daly 9 Dollard Farm Way ELLSWORTH H 4605

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emmy Chadbourne 707
longview st Greensboro 27403

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon Seyfarth 62982
birch rd VANDALIA 49095

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R mill Maple Toledo 43608

American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.

Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

674

Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thi Ton-Olshaskie Court Woodland Arroyo Grande 93420