I have been a T-Mobile customer for 3 years now and can say this that T-Mobile's merger with ATT will kill competition in the telecom industry.

1. T-Mobile has made some very customer centric changes to the industry, if the merger happens then there is a good chance that those changes will go away.
2. ATT and T-Mobile have different bands of frequency available to them.
3. T-Mobile's practices are geared towards good customer service, ATT's are the opposite.
4. T-Mobile has changed the industry for good, and the merger will kill the biggest competition to ATT.
