

60001841372.txt

It has come to my attention that certain organizations, such as Google, are being given preferential treatment in development of these regulations. The stated purpose of the rules you are making is for improved privacy for all, and no person or organization should be treated with special exemptions. To do otherwise is unethical and irresponsible.