

60001841442.txt

Google collects more information on people than any other company and yet you want to make Google exempt from privacy regulations.

Why would you do this? It's certainly not because it's fair and unbiased.

It is well known that Google is a huge supporter of Obama. Could this have something to do with this.

If you are going to make privacy regulations then they have to apply to all companies.