

60001841764.txt

Strongly Against.

Creation of a new category "symbol mode" is unneeded--no other FCC references to "symbol mode" exist. Allowing 2.8KHz digital signals in subbands currently occupied by very narrow bandwidth CW (morse code) signals would create undesirable interference to that very popular mode.

I am an extra class amateur licensee since 1971 and also CEO/President of a consultant firm that deals in RF and information assurance policy and engineering.