

60001841971.txt

As a Canadian radio amateur I am concerned about the proposed revision to the band allocations. CW is an important aspect of the hobby and is by no means dead and gone, quite to the contrary. Allowing other modes in the current CW only segments will result in worsening of the interference problems we already experience with digital modes operators who don't tend to listen for low power cw signals before they transmit.

ve3vxo