

60001842094.txt

By eliminating the CW sub band you are trying to eliminate CW. Since radio was invented, CW has always been the most reliable mode of transmission. Many of the new amateur radio operators that passed the no code licenses can still learn CW and many do and like it. In addition, the international community will not appreciate other modes of transmission in the CW sub band. Many of the amateur radio operators around the world prefer CW and causing them interference with other modes of transmission will cause a revolt against American operators.