

60001842165.txt

RM11769 the proposal to modify the cw sub bands will be detrimental to the amateur radio service including emergency communications such as hurricane preparation work and recovery. I am a volunteer with the National Hurricane Center in Miami and as such, I can attest to the fact that any form of digital modes, especially digital voice in the cw sub bands will impair our services. There is more than ample band width for these digital modes, (which I use as well) without tampering with the current band plans.

Mike Williams, W4DL Amateur Extra, GROL with Radar, USCG Merchant Marine Officer.