Your so-called Internet privacy rules, are a joke. Google stalks people and the Chairman could care less.

I am tired of the government treating the citizens of the United States as something to be used and abused and allowing their cronies to do the same.

And just as your net neutrality rules exempt President Obama's multi-billion dollar corporate cronies from having to follow them, your new privacy rules have a Google-sized special interest carve-out, again.

The government lets Obama's cronies get rich and doesn't care about the people. You wonder why Americans are pissed.
