

60001842246.txt

You'd think that invading people's privacy would be against the law!! Pretty sad when people go to these extremes, especially the one person you think you should have been able to trust. Obama has been a joke since day one, and he just keeps on proving it.