Their needs to be a law against Robocalls for cell phones and land lines. If you want to solicit door to door, you need a permit, and are restricted to certain days and hours. Are robocalls restricted to the same rules? Worse case, make the permits for robocalls economically unfeasible. If a normal citizen called a number 10 to 12 times a day, they could be cited for harassment. I don't see why companies can't be cited for the same thing. I would guess that for every normal call I receive on my land line, I receive about 40 from robocalls. And more often than not they fill the answering machine as to make it unable to collect any more messages. I would like these companies to have to pay me, for my time to deal with their unsolicited calls. Every time they call my cell or land line, I want them charged at least $2.00. If that were the case I believe that I wouldn't have to pay for any phone service. Its been long enough. Crack down on these companies now!
