

60002091104.txt

I am a businessman and for thirty years I have never used automated systems to market. This practice is not only annoying but disruptive and an invasion of my private time.

This must change and the carriers and the industry need to put a stop to it or consumers will boycott the industry. In addition their representatives in congress and senate may not re-elected.