I am on the National Do-Not-Call list, yet I receive a minimum of 5 calls daily on my home phone. Now they have started calling on my cell phone, a number I have never given to anyone except my immediate family! My cell is usually off as I have it for emergency only purposes. Still when I do turn it on my time is wasted listening to or just plain deleting the numerous unsolicited messages. Especially hate the ones on home phone that state this is your LAST chance, yeah, would be nice if you never called back to give me another LAST CHANCE!
