Dear Chairman Wheeler,

As I look at what you are doing to "protect" our privacy, you are not protecting us. You are protecting a few hand picked companies with agendas of their own.

Fairness in business practices should be exactly that, fair. Every company should have to play by the same rules. By regulating some companies and not others, you allow the government to pick winners and losers rather than the free market. That makes this the worst industrial policy ever.

Go back to the beginning and start over. Make everyone play by the same rules.
Sincerely,
Nancy Keller
