Dear Sir or Madam,

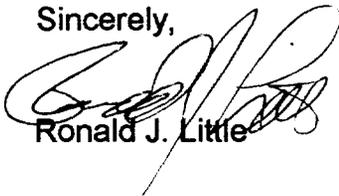

Two networks are soon to be dropped from my satellite subscription service. This is in compliance with rulings resulting from lawsuits filed under FCC rules.

I am being advised to purchase and install a rooftop antenna, with only the possibility that I might receive adequate reception. If I do not, I assume that I will be advised to subscribe to the local Cable service. All so that I will not miss precious local advertising.

I have requested waivers, to be allowed to receive these network via the satellite system which I have installed (myself, remote on post with concrete, due to many large trees and low-lying area in which I live) and to which I subscribe.

I respectfully suggest and request that more paractical and common-sense controls be put into place.

Sincerely,

Ronald J. Little
