

The people that founded this country understood clearly that the government they were creating was potentially the greatest threat to their freedom that they would ever see. Knowledge is power and the less power that the government has over its citizens the better. The FBI under Hoover has a long and ignoble history of unjustified snooping. If the wisdom of the founding fathers still existed in Washington this proposal would not even be considered.