

I am writing to express my concern over the infringement of personal privacy involved in the cell phone tracking proposal. This poses a direct threat to the public's right to privacy. The issue of nation-wide government surveillance brings unpleasant thoughts of communist Russia to mind, and I am not willing to allow my civil rights to be violated. Thank you for your time and consideration of my comment.