

To Whom It May Concern:
RM-9419

I support RM 9419 and urge the FCC to enact the proposals contained therein at the earliest possible date for the benefit of Americans in rural communities such as where I live.

I listen to and advertise on a our only locally owned and operated radio station WMTA AM in Central City, Kentucky which plays southern gospel music, local news, information, weather reports, local church broadcasts election returns and debates and all things important locally, however, the station is significantly restricted in their service to the community due to the low power they operate on at nite. It would be in the community's best interest for the FCC to allow stations such as ours here to operate at night by providing the same great service they provide during the days. They should be allowed some type of fill-in service for the public's benefit.

I live less than seven miles from the station and get it great during the day but can't get them at night and this is not right.

Thanks
