Micro powered community radio has allowed the San Luis Bay Chapter of the Surfrider Foundation to broadcast our meetings for free for the past 3 years. This access has allowed us to educate the community about the environment and the ocean that we are trying to preserve. By shutting down the low powered radio stations you have taken away our voice in the community. This is not the first time big corporations have robbed the public with a fountain pen. I also listen to these stations for updates on community issues like the FCC taking away our rights. Information I would not hear on commercial radio. I support low power FM radio stations and I wish that you would too!

Sincerely

Phil Teresi
