

We purchased a satellite 7 yrs. ago because where we live our local channels do not come in with a rooftop antenna worth beans. How would you like to watch TV with a bunch of lines or through snow so thick you can't make out what is happening? Now with this legislation, we are in jeporady of losing ABC, NBC, CBS, and FOX from our satellite provider, which we pay for, and I think that stinks! Besides FOX is not a local network for us anyway, so the only way we can receive it is with our dish, but that is one of the ones we are going to face losing from our satellite provider. This is all a bunch of bologna, and if you are willing to pay for ABC, NBC, CBS, and FOX from a satellite provider because your local network signals are terrible you should be able to so you can watch their programs. Otherwise just think how many people may rebel and just watch the other channels they do receive from their satellite program provider and not watch ABC, NBC, CBS, or FOX! This is a free country still, and you should be able to purchase these networks even if they are not your local ones, just like any other product you buy!
