

I am voicing my complaint about this satellite act you have impletmented for subscribers of Direct Tv in reference to network broadcasts.

I cannot receive local channels by antenna. When I say Antenna, I mean "Rabbit Ears" I should not have to spend hundreds of dollars in equipment & installation costs to have a roof top antenna. Cable TV suffers from too much interference in my area. Even with sheilded cable, it does no good. I am absolutly furious that Direct Tv cannot provide me (SOMETHING I AM WILLING TO PAY FOR) network affiliates out of my area. Speaking as a typical consumer, I could care less of the advertising costs that go into television. This is, and should not be a concern to me or any other person who watches television. All I care about is receiving a transmission in the type of picture quality that I feel is acceptable, not the FCC's version. Direct TV customers, and all customers of whatever DBS system they are on, should have the right to choose what they want for programming. I think that every local affiliate in every market should be availible for subscription on Direct Tv. This law is wrong, and should be taken off. I demand a waiver from the FCC so I can get some sort of local programming. Maybe the FCC would like to pay for the installation of a roof top antenna?
