

I don't use a cellular phone, but I think we would be taking a dangerous step towards a police state by allowing the FBI to track citizens by cell phone location. This would be dangerous to both the citizens and the integrity of the government.