RE: Docket # 95-31

Dear Fellow American:

Subject: Freedom is Spoken Here

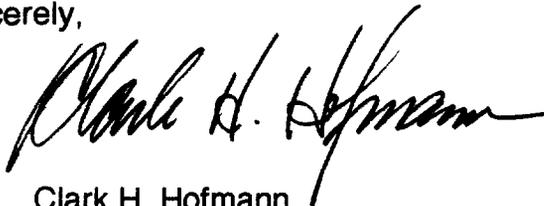

I realize that life is a gamble, stuff happens, and America's growth, since the revolution, has been an evolution guided by a few with positive action, deflected with inaction, and bumped by some for personal gains.

By throwing our airwaves to the the wolves as Docket 95-31 implies, it appears that someone no longer believes in guidance but in releasing the responsibility of development in an apparent "throwing up of the hands" as the onslaught of requests for media frequencies ensues.

C'mon, folks! Regain the original rights and responsibilities that this country gave your office and handle the realm as you it should be done - not as the swaggering lobbyists of big money prompt. Actually if you were really doing your job it would appear that you could engage an act of public domain and reclaim some of the licenses previously issued. The Right of Free Speech is being exploited by the wrong of cheap talk, and what was originally and rightfully free but now is questionably cheap, will gain in expense but not in value. I am concerned that #95-31 will be a dissolving rather than an evolving influence on our future. The right of Free Speech should not be won on a lottery table with random results on odds favoring those with the big bucks. Greed, disguised as a servant to the people dressed in unalienable rights, is apparently fooling the gate keepers.

Thank you for your effort to give non-profit, non commercial concerns a chance to share and grow with the changes (improvements?) in our United States.

Sincerely,

Clark H. Hofmann
