

I am in support of the proposed low power FM licensing. I previously was an engineer for a TV station, and love radio and working with electronic devices. I also live in a low income housing development and think the community would benefit from a community radio station.

I also would favor the waiving of certain regulations for 100 and 10watt stations, as those stations have limited resources and revenue.

I miss the small local station we used to have in the neighborhood at 89.7FM. I think it folded due to a lack of funding. Hopefully if this proposal comes through, I can once again breath life to low power stations locally.

Thank you for your time,
Jay Parsons
