

After reading over MM Docket 99-25 and the supplementary materials involved with that proceeding, I am very excited! The prospect of being able to create a low cost, low power FM radio station finally gives the ordinary citizen like myself the opportunity to provide on-air content that will not be provided for by the large corporate media giants that currently own the airwaves. It is understandable why they operate the way they do because they are not in the business of providing entertainment to everyone, but to make as much money as possible. Unfortunately, this leaves severe gaps in the content provided since less popular forms of music, local artists and other small demographics are being neglected because the large corporations simply won't provide these desired services to the public because of the smaller listenership. MM Docket 99-25 finally provides a way for the average citizen to have a voice to the public and provide these unsupplied services without having to have been born a millionaire. Of course, measures, such as distancing, should be enforced to maintain the technical integrity of all stations and the same rules of conduct as relating to decency and related issues should apply to low power stations as they do to any other station as well. Please give those of us who have dreamed of being broadcasters and want to provide the type of entertainment and information that cannot be received elsewhere the opportunity to make our voices heard. Thank you for your time.
