To Whom it may concern:

I strongly support the micropower radio movement and wish to express my outrage at the FCC's attempts to shutdown those attempting to liberate the airwaves from corporate control. This is a free speech issue and in no way should concern the federal government.

Henceforth, I call upon the FCC and other relevant agencies to cease all raids on micropower radio stations as well as seeking to regulate them with prohibitive license fees. In addition, I call upon you to drop all charges against the operators of these stations and release all confiscated equipment immediatly. It is my understanding that micropowered radio stations do not interfere with anyone else's broadcasting ability and that such activity is protected by the First Amendment!

In Freedom And Justice,

Bruce Mark Nevin
