Ladies and Gentlemen of the FCC:

I am pleased to have an opportunity to share my enthusiasm for a commercial-free service that focuses on pre-school children. Both CTW and Nickelodeon have the commitment to kids and the expertise to create a special place where kids can learn by doing, and have fun too! Noggin is the type of enterprise that I believe should qualify for the DBS set-aside for educational programming.

When I served as Executive Director of Cable In The Classroom, educators were very clear about their need to have all programming commercial-free. I believe that pre-school children have an even greater need. I am glad to see CTW and Nickelodeon collaborate, and I hope the FCC will make this type of quality programming available to as many families as possible. The educational set-aside could not be better served.

Thank you for your consideration,

Bobbi L. Kamil Ph.D.
